VICE PRESIDENT SHERMAN BOWS TO THE CONQUEROR

GENUINE GRIEF IS FELT BY ALL

Men of Every Political Faith Bow in Sorrow.

WASHINGTON IS IN DEEPEST MOURNING

At the Death of Vice President James S. Sherman.

Speculation Begins Upon the Effect Which the Death of Mr. Sherman Will Have on Government and Senatorial Procedure — Country Will Be Without Secondary Head Until March, 1913.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Genuine sorrow was felt by men of all political parties today over the death of Vice President James S. Sherman, from kidney disease, at his Utica home last night. The genial disposition of Mr. Sherman caused him to be known as "Sunny Jim," and he stood as a national character of geniality and amiability.

There has been no intimation from the Republican national committee as to who shall succeed Mr. Sherman. But his name will be kept upon the national ticket, so voters will be in the position of voting for a dead man.

Mr. Sherman was the seventh vice president to die in office and, as the constitution does not provide for a successor to a vice president, there can be no vice president until March 4, 1913. The duties of vice president are assumed by the president pro tem of the senate but, owing to the long standing deadlock, there is no president pro tempore now.

The constitution provides that, in the event of the president being incapacitated, the vice president succeeds him. But under present conditions should President Taft be incapacitated Secretary Knox would become acting president. It is likely the senate will come to some sort of agreement this winter and elect a presiding officer.

Possible Successors.

Among the possible successors to Mr. Sherman mentioned so far are John Wanamaker, of Philadelphia; Governor Hadley, of Missouri; Governor Deneen, of Illinois; Senator Frah, Senator Cummins, former Vice President Fairbanks and Senator Root, of New York.

For the third time within the past fifteen years, the United States is without a vice president today, as a result of the death of Mr. Sherman. Flags on the government buildings are at half mast and the bust of Mr. Sherman in the vice presidential gallery at the capitol is draped in funeral black.

Following suggestions from President Taft, all the heads of the departments issued orders calling for funeral observances for the next month and all embassies, legations and consulates throughout the world are requested to lower their flags in honor of the nation's dead. This order was also sent to the commanders of battleships and the other vessels belonging to the government.

In conjunction with discussion of the vice president's death, official Washington today speculated widely upon the effect which his death would have upon the government and senatorial procedure.

No Provision Made.

The constitution which provides successors to the presidency "even to the ninth generation," makes no provision for the vice president. So that the United States will be without a secondary head until March next. This is the third time it has happened in the past decade and a half, Garrett A. Hobart having died in 1899 and Theodore Roosevelt having become president in 1901 upon the death of President McKinley. No vice presidents were appointed to succeed either of these men.

The secondary place on the ticket is the only one left vacant by the death of the vice president. The secretary of the senate is also left out, at each election the "progressives" having held the balance of power and prevented a choice, in an effort to force the selection of Senator Clapp, their candidate. A compromise was finally decided upon, whereby Senator Gallinger and Senator Bacon took turns in presiding over the upper house, each holding office for a week at a time.

Senator Gallinger, having presided over the senate for the last week of the session, Senator Bacon is now president pro tem during the recess.

It is supposed that this system of alternating will continue until March 4, there being no reason to believe the senate will be any more able to elect its president this time.

Plans for Funeral.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—The plans for the funeral of the late vice president contemplate services at the First Presbyterian church Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Dr. M. W. Stryker, president of Hamilton college, will officiate assisted by Rev. Dr. Louis H. Holden.

The active pall-bearers will be chosen from the employes of the Utica Trust & Safe Deposit company of which Mr. Sherman was president.

The honorary bearers were selected by Mr. Sherman many months ago, and the list is now locked in his desk. Until this is opened and the list found the names of the honorary bearers will not be announced.

Mr. Sherman's body will lie in state at the Oneida county courthouse in this city from 3 to 9 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Sherman was in a rather more composed state today, following a few hours rest. Her husband's end, though she realized two days ago it was inevitable, was none the less a shocking blow and, following his death last night, she was inconsolable for many hours. Never in rugged physical condition, it is feared the death of Mr. Sherman will go seriously with her.

Dr. F. H. Peck, who attended the vice president throughout his long illness, is looking after Mrs. Sherman.

Utica today is in mourning for the passing of its foremost citizen. Flags are at half staff and, in other ways, the community manifests the grief it experiences in the death of a man who wrought much for his home city.

Thousands of telegrams of sympathy, from all sections of the United States, poured in upon the Sherman home today from friends of the late statesman.

President Cancels Date.

Washington, Oct. 31.—In order to attend the funeral of Vice President Sherman at Utica, Saturday afternoon, President Taft today cancelled his engagement to speak at the unveiling of the Washington monument at Newark, New Jersey, Saturday.

Senator Bacon, president pro tempore of the senate, today wired Sergeant-at-Arms Ransdell of the senate, to be ready to make whatever arrangements are necessary, and advised him that as soon as funeral arrangements were completed he would give further instructions.

In the absence of these instructions, it is believed the entire senate will be invited to attend the funeral, and that arrangements will be made for the members to meet in New York, Saturday morning. From there a special train will take them to Utica.

The president will leave here Friday evening, arriving in Utica Saturday morning. Following the services the president will probably go to New York, spending the day with his brother, leaving Sunday night for Cincinnati.

The president today motored to Baltimore to attend an informal luncheon given by Walter E. Brooks at his country home at Green Spring Valley, Maryland. The occasion being an informal one, he was accompanied only by his military aide and his usual bodyguard of secret service men. It was expected he would return to Washington late today.

Dies Upon Hearing News.

New York, Oct. 31.—The news of Vice President Sherman's death, shouted by newsboys, caused Walter Morris, manager of the San Remo hotel, to drop dead in the street of heart disease.

The Silver Market.

HIS MEMORY FULL OF SWEETNESS AND LIGHT

New York, Oct. 31—President Taft, immediately after arriving in New York, dispatched the following telegram to Mrs. James S. Sherman at Utica:

"Mrs. Taft and I extend to you our heartfelt sympathy in your great sorrow. Our hearts go out to you in the loss of your noble and loving husband. Vice President Sherman had rendered distinguished service to his country, and his death ten years before the time allotted by the Psalmist is a great loss. As a member of congress and a vice president he endeared himself to all who knew him. His memory is full of sweetness and light."

"William H. Taft."

TURKS GIVE WAY BEFORE BULGARS

Are Retreating Toward City of Constantinople.

SULTAN'S MEN LOSE 10,000 DURING FIGHT

Reports State Adrianople Is Captured Today.

The Ottomans Say Their Retreat Should Not Be Classed as Such. Merely Strategic Movement into a Better Position—Bulgarian Army Is Divided into Several Small Divisions by Turk Operations.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—Advices from the front tonight stated that General Nazim Pacha's Turkish army at Adrianople had been defeated and completely routed by the Bulgarians.

Vast quantities of spoils fell into the Bulgarians' hands. The Turks fled, throwing away their arms and leaving all their belongings behind. By the flight of the Turks the way to Constantinople was opened for the allies.

Fight Is a Draw.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—5 p. m.—Today's fighting between the Bulgarian and Turkish armies resulted in a drawn battle, according to advices received late this afternoon.

The Bulgars at first seemed to be winning a great victory, but nine Turkish divisions, held in reserve, reinforced the battered center and the Bulgarians were unable to break the line.

The eastern wing of the Turkish army, which was in retreat earlier in the day after abandoning Lule-burgas, rallied this afternoon, and made Sarai and Istrandja their bases.

The Turkish reserves are now practically exhausted and Czar Ferdinand sends word here that he expects a complete victory tomorrow.

Army Is Retreating.

Vienna, Oct. 31.—General Nazim Pacha's Turkish army, southeast of Adrianople, has been driven across the Erkene river and today is in retreat toward Constantinople, pursued by Czar Ferdinand's Bulgarian forces.

This information was received here today in news agency dispatches from the front, which added that the Turks withdrew toward Lule Burgas along the Orient railway, after losing 10,000 killed and wounded in two days' fighting with the Bulgarian troops.

The left wing of the Bulgar forces has now been split, one division marching southward along the mountain range which skirts the Black sea, while the other is operating between Eski Baba and Tcherkeskoi.

However, while the Turks were compelled to give way before the onslaught, their retreat is reported to be orderly and well covered. It is reported from Turkish quarters that the backward movement of the Turks can not be classed properly as a retreat, but as a strategic movement into a better position.

Bulgar Forces Divided.

Operations of the Turkish forces have had the result of dividing the Bulgarian army into a number of small divisions. It is now evidently the intention of Nazim Pacha, the Ottoman commander-in-chief, to try to separate these with forces of Turks between and then attempt to annihilate them one by one.

The southernmost detachment of Bulgarians has reached Muradlai, or Kopektu, on the Orient railway, eighty miles from Constantinople.

A flying squadron of Bulgarian cavalry is reported to have reached the outskirts of Rodosto. The Turkish garrison at Rodosto has less than 1,000.

The latest report was that Adrianople was surrounded and that the Bulgars were bombarding it. The

OVERSLEEPS ON TRAIN; DRESSES IN STATION

Sunbury, Pa., Oct. 31.—Because the porter failed to awaken him in time to dress on the train, Charles Moyer, of New York, rushed to the depot in his pajamas, and dressed there, while station men kept women outside.

THE LATE JAMES S. SHERMAN.

SHERMAN LIES COLD IN DEATH

End Comes Peacefully to the Vice President.

HE DOES NOT RALLY FROM STATE OF COMA

And Passes into Eternity at 9:42 Last Night.

Mrs. Sherman Is Stricken With Grief — Distinguished Statesman Passes Away in Presence of His Family—Speaks a Few Words to His Wife in Morning, but Not Afterward.

Utica, N. Y., Oct. 31.—James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died at his home in this city at 9:42 o'clock last night. The vice president, who lapsed into a state of coma Tuesday afternoon, never rallied, and passed from unconsciousness to death.

Dr. F. H. Peck issued this statement concerning the last moments of the vice president:

"The vice president died at 9:42 p. m., without regaining consciousness. His end was perfectly quiet. He died in the presence of his wife, her brother and sister, his two brothers and his three sons and their wives. He had been perfectly unconscious since 7 o'clock Wednesday morning, when he had a period of partial consciousness for about 15 minutes. He died in an uraemic coma as the result of Bright's disease, heart disease and arterio-sclerosis."

The vice president was able to say a few words to his wife and Dr. Peck during his lucid moments in the morning, but never spoke thereafter. Mrs. Sherman is in a state of near collapse as a result of her husband's end and Dr. Peck is ministering to her, while her three sons, Sherrill, Richard and Thomas are seeking to comfort the grief-stricken woman.

A message notifying President Taft of the vice president's death was flashed a few minutes after the end came.

Arrangements for the funeral will be made this afternoon. His last resting place will be in a magnificent mausoleum recently erected in Forest Hill cemetery, in this city.

Since 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon the physicians had administered oxygen to the dying statesman.

Born October 24, 1855.

James Schoolcraft Sherman was born in Utica, New York, October 24, 1855. His parents were Richard U. and Mary Frances Sherman, both of English descent. Richard U. Sherman was a journalist by profession. He established the Utica Morning Herald, and later, when politics and public office became his principal concern, he wrote Washington letters for New York papers, in which he praised Roscoe Conkling, who lived in Utica.

Vice President Sherman attended the public schools of Utica and, in 1878, was graduated from Hamilton college, which is in a suburb of that city. Two years later he was admitted to the bar, and he continued to practice law until the beginning of the year of 1907.

Although his father had been a strong Democrat, Mr. Sherman allied himself, at the age of twenty-two, with the Republican party. His rise in its ranks was steady. In 1883 he became Oneida county chairman and one year later he was elected mayor, at the age of twenty-nine. He was the youngest mayor Utica ever had.

Mr. Sherman's congressional career began in 1887 and lasted, with one year's exception, until he ran for vice-president with Taft in 1908. Throughout his continuous office-holding life he has grown steadily in importance as a cog in the Republican party machine. Three times he served as a chairman of state conventions, and he has been "spoken of" in connection with almost every imporaant political post since 1900.

In the house, Sherman served as chairman of the committee on railways and canals, of the committee on Indian affairs and of the committee on rules, all-powerful in their influence.

Plays Important Part.

The part Sherman played in the national councils of the Republican party was more felt than observed, but it was always of highest importance. He was invariably consulted in the mapping out of na-

MAGAZINE MEN AGAINST TAFT

Oppose Him for Protecting the American People,

DECLARES GENERAL ROBERT B. BROWN

Addresses Enthusiastic Crowd at Nelsonville.

The Republican Candidate for Governor Says Great Periodicals Are Bull Moose and Democratic Press Agents Because Taft Forces Them To Pay Postal Rates According to Advertising.

Nelsonville, O., Oct. 31.—General Robert Burns Brown, the Republican candidate for governor, addressed one of the most enthusiastic meetings of his campaign at the Nelsonville opera-house, Wednesday night. Three brass bands attended to the musical part of the meeting, while General Brown and B. W. Waltermire, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor, provided the oratory.

"The opposition to President Taft was caused by his courage in protecting the welfare of all the people against powerful interests," declared General Brown. "The postmaster general found that the great periodicals were making fortunes for their owners at the expense of the people.

"The cost of carrying the great advertising mediums was $77,000,000 and the government was receiving but $9,000,000, a loss of $68,000,000. It was the desire of the administration to equalize postal rates so that the common people would be charged a half cent postage for postal cards and but one cent for letters. So the president recommended to congress that it pass a law which would make these great periodicals pay postal rates, according to the advertising matter they contained.

"The cause of this recommendation of social justice by the chief magistrate of the nation has been vilified and consistently misrepresented. Each of the great magazines has become the press agent of the Democratic or Bull Moose parties.

"Certain men and corporations have been prosecuted for rebating and, for that reason, millions of dollars have been expended in trying to accomplish the defeat of President Taft.

"Great trusts, with hundreds of millions of capital, have menaced the freedom of competition and the industrial liberty of the smaller producer and they have, therefore, opened their coffers to the opposition to the Republican party.

"I do not believe that there has ever been a president who has more faithfully discharged the duties of his office than William Howard Taft, and for that reason he has gained the enmity of the rich law breaker. It is for the common people to decide next Tuesday whether they wish to put into the White House a man who will do the bidding of the trusts and the rebaters, or retain the man who has defended the interests of all against special privilege.

"No man regards the constitutions of the United States and of Ohio more highly than I. To me, both instruments are the ultimatum of the people to their law givers. In fact, I believe that I esteem the law and order, which the protection constitutions afford, more than either of my opponents.

"The mandatory amendments, adopted by the people of Ohio recently, shall be observed in both letter and spirit by me. The permissive amendments shall be used in a manner that means equal justice to all and shall not be permitted to degenerate into the tyranny of the few."

ADMITS SHE SMOKES TWENTY PILLS A DAY

ACCUSED COUPLE TAKEN IN LIMA

Pair Charged with Murder of Miss Sophia Singer.

CAUGHT IN CITY WHERE MAN'S PARENTS RESIDE

Conway, Whose Real Name Is Kramer, Denies Guilt.

Charles Kramer and Beatrice Ryall Agree To Return to Chicago Without Requisition — Kramer's Mother Tells of Her Son Leaving Home Three Years Ago—Can Not Believe He Commits Murder.

Lima, O., Oct. 31.—Charles D. Conway, wanted for the murder of Sophia G. Singer, Baltimore heiress, and Beatrice Ryall, known as Conway's wife, were arrested here today.

The couple were arrested by the local police. They agreed to return to Chicago without requisition.

Conway, whose real name is Charles Newton Kramer, was arrested at a hotel here. Beatrice Ryall was with him. When seized by the local officers, he admitted that he was Conway and that he had been in Chicago. He denied emphatically any part in the killing of Miss Singer.

Admits His Identity.

"I admit I am the man the police are looking for, but I deny that I am guilty of any crime," said Conway. "We left Chicago and I did not know that a crime had been committed until I read about it in the newspapers."

Conway, known to the theatrical world as "Human Comet Conway," and the Ryall woman, were taken to the jail here, where they are held, pending the arrival of officers from Chicago.

Conway offered no explanation of the finding of Miss Singer's body in his room at a Chicago hotel. He

SIXTEEN DIE IN ORPHANAGE FIRE

Catholic Sisters and Wards Burned to Death.

SISTERS LOSE LIVES ATTEMPTING RESCUES

Flames Gain Great Headway Before Discovered.

The St. John's Orphan Asylum, at San Antonio, Texas, Is Totally Destroyed—Ten of the Dead Are Children—Sister Superior Does Heroic Work and Dies in Building. Escape Is Cut Off.

San Antonio, Tex., Oct 30—Sixteen persons, ten of them children, lost their lives today in a fire which destroyed St John's Orphan asylum here

Among the dead are Mother Mary of the Cross, sister superior in charge of the establishment, and five of the sisters who helped care for the orphans The sisters lost their lives in a heroic effort to save their charges

An effort was made, this morning, to ascertain definitely the number of children who lost their lives Ten are known to be missing and it is feared that others may have lost their lives Only a few of the bodies have been recovered

The fire broke out shortly after 4 o clock The building was a stone structure, but the flames spread so rapidly that the who'e place was in flames before efforts to rescue the children cou'd be made The sisters made a desperate effort to save their charges

The Known Dead.

Mother Mary of the Cross, sister superior, known in the world as Katherine Rossiter, of Wexford, Ireland

Sister Monica, formerly known as Miss Monica Montex, of Monterey

Mother Mary Francis

Sister Clever, formerly Miss Slavin, of Dublin, Ireland

Sister Leo, whose home was in Dublin

Katherine De Temple employed at the orphanage, killed when she jumped from an upper story

Missing, Unidentified and Dying

Ten children missing, unidentified and believed to be dead

Sister Mary Kostker, known formerly as Miss Sullivan, is dying She jumped from an upper story after she had been driven to a window by the flames A life net was spread, but Sister Mary missed it in her fall Her back was broken and she was internally injured

The market house today was turned into a temporary morgue and the bodies of the recovered dead taken there

The fire had burned itself out, but search of the ruins up to noon was practically impossible because of the intense heat

Origin of Fire

The fire originated in the kitchen. It is not known definitely just when those in the structure first discovered the fire, but it is known that it had gained great headway before effort was made to rescue the orphans

Two of the sisters who lost their lives died when they made a heroic effort to fight their way through the flames on an upper floor and save the children under their care Others, known to have lost their lives are lying in the ruins of the building Among these is Mother Mary of the Cross who refused to leave the building as long as any of the children were inside She did heroic work in attempted rescues and, to her efforts largely is due the fact that any of the children were saved

Bodies in the Ruins.

Sister Clever and Sister Leo lost their lives while endeavoring to help their mother superior in the rescue Their bodies also are among the ruins of the orphanage

The flames spread so rapidly that, when firemen reached the building there was little opportunity for them to assist in the rescue The flames were then leaping from the upper windows, while the entire lower story was so filled with flame and smoke that it was impossible for any one to attempt to enter

The firemen tried to save those imprisoned above by spreading their life nets Only a few of the children however, made their way to the windows It is believed they were caught asleep in their beds and perished before the sisters were able to rouse them

Sister Mary Kostker was one of those who were driven to the window by the flames The firemen begged her to jump Finally she dove frantically towards the life net She misjudged the distance and fell on the pavement At the hospital where surgeons worked over her unconscious form, today, it was said she was dying In addition to the injuries sustained in her fall, she was terribly burned

Records Are Burned.

Work of checking up the children rescued from the fire has been extremely difficult Mother Mary, in charge of the place, and the sisters who lost their lives with her, are the only ones who knew definitely the number of children in the institution The records of the place were burned

The asylum is outside the city limits of San Antonio It is situated near San Pedro springs The building was very old, while the walls were of stone, the floors were of wood The building was four stories high, with an attic above The attic was also used for wards of the institution, at all times being practically filled

The distance of the institution from the heart of the city made the firemen slow in getting to the place after the flames had been discovered

Most of the sleeping rooms were on the second floor The fire attacked the wooden stairway soon after it started and there was little chance to get the children to safety

Most of the inmates were small, the orphanage receiving children one year old and keeping them usually until they were about twelve years of age.

BECKER'S FATE IS NOW SEALED

Must Die During the Week of December 9.

HE IS SENTENCED AT 10:35 THIS MORNING

The Motion for a New Trial Is Overruled.

Stillness of Death Prevails in the Court-Room When Justice Goff Speaks the Words Which Send Rosenthal's Murderer to Death Pathetic Scene Between Convicted Man and His Wife.

[BULLETIN.]

Ossining N Y, Oct 30—Charles Becker, in charge of Sheriff Harburger, arrived at Sing Sing at 1 30 this afternoon from New York

Sentenced to Death.

New York, Oct 30—Former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was today sentenced to death in the electric chair by Justice Goff in the supreme court, for the murder of Herman Rosenthal Becker was convicted of instigating the murder of the gambler-informer, on the night of October 24

The former police official took his sentence calmly Justice Goff set the week of December 9 for Becker's execution He was immediately ordered to the death house at Sing Sing Sentence was imposed at 10 35

Mrs Becker was in the court-room when Justice Goff pronounced the death decree Those sitting near the loyal and brave wife of the ex-police official thought she would break down, but she bore up with wonderful fortitude Becker had left his wife a few seconds before, in the offices of Sheriff Harburger, where there was a pathetic scene The condemned man gripped his wife in his powerful arms and, for a moment, neither spoke

After the sentence had been passed, Sheriff Harburger began preparations to leave with Becker for Sing Sing prison on the 11 50 train Five deputies were ordered to accompany the condemned man

Court Denies Request.

Becker asked for ten days in which to wind up his affairs, but the sheriff refused to grant this Attorney John W Hart was present as the representative of Becker Mr McIntyre was not present, having sent word that he was ill

Mr Hart presented a motion for a new trial, but it was overruled

Justice Goff entered the court room at 10 31 and immediately Clerk Charles Penny called out

Charles Becker to the bar

Although Becker was outwardly calm, he showed traces of a sleepless night His eyes were inflamed and he showed he was under high nervous tension But he held himself as stiffly erect as though on parade when he stepped to the bar Becker gazed steadily into the eyes of Justice Goff, never blinking or dropping his glance

The stillness of death prevailed The corridors had been cleared and the crowd outside the courthouse was held at bay by a dozen police men

"Have you anything to say why sentence should not be passed?" asked Justice Goff

Becker opened his lips to reply when Attorney Hart leaped to his feet and addressed the court He asked that sentence be deferred and made a motion for a new trial The motion was overruled and Justice Goff proceeded to impose sentence It was a dramatic moment and the tenseness of the situation gripped all alike Justice Goff said

The Death Sentence

Charles Becker the judgment of this court is that you, Charles Becker for the murder in the first degree of one Herman Rosenthal, whereof you are convicted, be and you are hereby sentenced to the punishment of death and it is ordered that within ten days after this day's session of this court the sheriff of the county of New York deliver you together with the warrant of this court, to the agent and warden of the state prison at Sing Sing where you shall be kept in solitary confinement until the week beginning December 9, 1912 and upon some day within that week so afforded the said agent and warden of the state prison of New York at Sing Sing is commanded to execute you Charles Becker, in the mode and manner prescribed by the law of New York state

A deep sigh escaped Becker Then he braced himself squared his shoulders and once more looked the court squarely in the eye

Sheriff Harburger was then given official charge of the prisoner As Becker came in view of his wife, he smiled but she did not see him She was holding a handkerchief before her eyes

The prisoner walked so rapidly through the corridor to the sheriff's office that the deputy handcuffed to him could hardly keep up

Becker, accompanied by three deputy sheriffs to one of whom he was manacled left for Ossining at 11 55 The train was scheduled to arrive there at 1 13

At the parting of Becker from his wife, there was a tearful scene It was the first time that Mrs Becker publicly gave way to grief Because of his manacled hands, the big prisoner could not clasp his wife as she clung to him, but he comforted her with words, saying everything would turn out all right and to keep a brave heart

TRUST MAKES GREAT PROFIT

Harvester Pot for Three Years Is 463 Per Cent.

RODNEY B. SWIFT ON THE WITNESS STAND

Net Gain, Expressed in Figures, Is $16,000,000.

Former Confidential Man of the McCormicks, Who Organizes the Great Harvester Trust, Tells of Events Leading Up to Organization—Is Star Witness Today in the Chicago Trial.

Chicago, Oct 30—Asserting that the net profits of the McCormick Harvester company for three years was 463 per cent Rodney B Swift, former head of the legal patent and experimental departments of the McCormick company, was star witness before Special Examiner Robert S Taylor, when taking testimony in the Harvester trust case was resumed today

The former confidential man of the McCormicks, who organized the alleged harvester trust, told of events leading up to the organization of the International Harvester company

Swift said the net profits of the McCormick company, on its capitalization of $2 500 000, during the three years beginning in January, 1900 amounted to $16 000,000

Swift told of a series of conferences between heads of the Harvester manufacturing concerns in Chicago and New York that preceded combining of companies controling from eighty-five to ninety per cent of the Harvester machine-manufacturing business

REPUBLICANS RALLY IN TOWNSHIP HALL

A Big Meeting Is Held at Green Camp Tuesday Night.

HON W M. KOONS IS SPEAKER OF EVENING

Gives Reasons for Certain Publishers of Magazines Being Opposed to President Taft—Quotes Roosevelt as Being Opposed to Third Term in Presidential Chair.

Hon W M Koons of Mt Vernon addressed an enthusiastic meeting of Republicans in the township hall at Green Camp Tuesday night He referred to Wilson, the Democratic presidential nominee, as the historian who had criticized Washington, Jefferson Jackson and Cleveland

Of Washington he said it is for any one who likes a surveyor rather than a statesman," the speaker declared

Mr Koons wanted to know if a man should be elected president for a third term He declared he was against it and quoted Colonel Roosevelt as saying he was against it in 1904 He spoke eloquently of President Taft and prosperity

The speaker ably presented the tariff issue pointing out the certain paralysis of business that would follow any tinkering with it by the Democrats

Other speakers were J H Eymon, candidate for probate judge Pearl R Mears candidate for surveyor, Lloyd P DeGoller, candidate for prosecuting attorney, C L Patton, central committeeman, and Chairman W H Harrington

The hall was decorated with pictures of McKinley, Taft and Brown

REMARKABLE ADDRESS BY SENATOR BURTON

He Tells the People Truths in Plain, Forceful Language.

WHY COUNTRY NEEDS PRESIDENT W. H. TAFT

A Large Audience Hears the Senator and Is More Than Pleased. One of the Ablest Orators Campaigning for President Taft, Brings a Message of Value.

That the tide of public sentiment in the West and Middle West is now flowing toward President Taft, and that the people are beginning to realize that it would be unwise to make a change, was the message brought to Marion county Republicans by United States Senator Theodore E. Burton, Friday night.

Senator Burton recently has been on the trail of Governor Wilson, Democratic candidate for president, during the latter's tour of the West and Middle West. He is thus qualified to speak intelligently on the change in the tide of public sentiment. He is now campaigning in the Buckeye state in the interest of the president.

The senior Ohio solon addressed what was by far the most enthusiastic Republican meeting of the campaign. The court-room was filled to overflowing and many were turned away. The name of President Taft was cheered wildly, and the masterful, forceful address held the audience as though intent seemingly on drinking in every word. When Senator Burton announced that he would stop talking there were loud cries, "Go on, go on."

Turning to Chairman George D. Copeland, Senator Burton talked with him in undertones, again faced his audience, consulting his watch, and continued the remarkable speech which had enthused the crowd to a high pitch.

Dispassionate Address.

It was truly a calm, dispassionate presentation of the vital issues of this campaign, and one of the most convincing campaign arguments for the reelection of President Taft ever heard in Ohio.

Senator Burton is an orator, whose power is his simple, plain language, and the simple, plain way in which he uses it. Widely traveled, for a quarter of a century in public life and always a student, he is one of the most interesting speakers engaged in the present campaign.

The speaker declared President Taft had saved the country from a panic by vetoing the Democratic tariff bills, although he was roundly criticized for doing so. He predicted that hard times would follow the election of a Democratic president just as it did in 1892, when conditions were very much similar to present conditions. He did not think dire calamity would come at once, but asserted his belief that it would come slowly with the election of Woodrow Wilson and business interests would be paralyzed.

In beginning his address, Senator Burton said a speaker always formed his opinion of an audience when he was waiting to be introduced, and that he had been led by the opinion he had formed of his Marion audience to give something more than the ordinary political address. Throughout he was loudly cheered, and his hearers were taken away with the power of his eloquence and logic.

A Big Difference.

The distinguished senator said he would have no doubt of President Taft's reelection if it was not for the unrest and discontent, the worst he had seen during his twenty-five years of public life. The witty headline or the bright cartoon had been taken by the people for guides, and they were led astray.

"Nowadays the young man who writes an epigram or a bright saying and has it published in the newspapers gains more eclat than the one who gives two years of thought to some scientific problem," Senator Burton declared.

In the United States the disposition to material development is beyond that of any country in the world, the senator said. Here the opportunity for the acquirement of wealth is without parallel. Every boy is inspired with the idea he can duplicate a Rockefeller or a Carnegie. This tends to create a feverish excitement. This is manifest everywhere, he said. The Shakespearean drama has been succeeded by vaudeville and the ballet.

Greatest Enemies.

Ignorance and selfishness are the greatest enemies of a democracy, Senator Burton asserted. Many voters have been turned away from calm, dispassionate judgment and reason to conditions of uncertainty and unrest. To illustrate his point, he told of a young man who had gone to congress, and how at last he had made his maiden speech, after having been ignored several times by the powerful speaker. He was granted the floor for half an hour in which to speak. The galleries were empty and few of the members were on the floor. But the young man was so eloquent the galleries soon began to fill. He was granted another half hour and another half hour until he finally spoke two hours and a half. It was a great speech.

But the next morning the New York papers ignored it entirely. One Washington newspaper carried a few lines about it. Why? Because the newspapers publish what the people want. In the same edition which carried a few lines on the magnificent address appeared thirteen columns of sports, thus showing the great disproportion of interest.

Story of a Thriller.

Three years ago the whole world was thrilled by the reported discovery of the North pole. Senator Burton said Dr. Cook came down from the Far North, told his story and described his trip to the North pole in the "cerulean blue" language that any schoolboy might use. Then came Mr. Peary on the scene. He did not show any social amenities, and was disagreeable about it when he learned of the great humbug that had been sprung by Dr. Cook. This caused public sympathy to flow to Dr. Cook, one of the peculiar tendencies of the American people. But Dr. Cook did not discover the North pole. At the time the discussion was on as to whether Cook discovered it, the question was put to a popular vote of one community out West. The verdict was 58,000 that Dr. Cook discovered the pole, and 6,000 that Peary discovered it.

From this Senator Burton drew an object lesson, and expressed his admiration for Dr. Cook's supreme gall, adding that it possibly applied to certain fallacies before the American people now.

An Idea Exploded.

The senator exploded the idea that the high cost of living was due to the Republican tariff. Wilson, he said, had found that theory untenable and abandoned it. One Democratic speaker said that when Wilson was elected the high cost of living would be reduced, and things would be cheaper, but no one will suffer in doing it. He might as well have said that everything will be cheaper with the election of Wilson, but the prices will be the same. He would be like the man who, when he is not talking he is writing, and when he is not writing he is talking and never saying anything when doing either.

The high cost of living is world-wide, Senator Burton pointed out. The people of the old world feel the same pinch about the same, and in the same degree as Americans, and surely the Payne-Aldrich bill can not be blamed for the high cost of living in Europe.

The senator said there was not a person in the court-room who did not enjoy a richer living than people did only twenty years ago. This is a breeding ground for great men and women never surpassed, and the people live on a higher plane than formerly.

Tendency of Times.

It's the tendency of the times, Senator Burton said, to say some one is cheating. He showed that, although the United States had increased 29,000,000 in population in the last twenty years fewer cattle were now raised in the United States than there were twenty years ago. Would not this have a tendency to raise the price of meat?

Senator Burton said the high prices were closely associated with human progress and human betterment. He then told of the great production of gold, and added that it was not really a measure of value, but was used for bank reserves. An added supply of it stimulates enterprise everywhere. Men are called in off the farm because they are paid more money in the cities, and consequently the United States is not producing in proportion to the increase in population.

It's the gap between the consumer and the producer that causes the present high cost of living, Senator Burton declared. In Germany there are no middlemen. The retailer gets directly from the manufacturer, and he can sell cheaper. In this country the middlemen get the profits that the consumer ought to get in the reduced price of an article. But if one-tenth part was given to the proper distribution instead of knocking the blameless retailer, Senator Burton thought the country would get along much better. He told of having visited England as a member of a government commission. Some of the members had their wives with them.

Shopping Expedition.

From London the party went to Leicestershire only a few miles away and the first he knew all were on a shopping expedition because articles were thirty and fifty per cent. cheaper than they were in London.

In London there were many strangers with plenty of money, and the difference in the high cost in London and the cheaper cost in Leicestershire is due to the sole fact that in London there are so many more people and strangers with money. He declared that the whole theory of the American tariff system was not merely one of protection, but that eventually it would lower prices. Here Senator Burton paid Marion this compliment:

"Marion is one of the most prosperous cities of 20,000 or 30,000 people in the United States. I understand you are growing so fast that you can't find houses for all. Do you as prosperous citizens, want to discard the Republican protective tariff and President Taft for Governor Wilson and Democratic hard times? No, I don't believe you do."

Continuing Senator Burton said the rural communities are decreasing and the cities increasing. After long years the farmer is at last coming into his own.

Desires of Today.

The senator said that nowadays if a woman buys a ten-cent ribbon she wanted it delivered to her, and in a package that cost as much as she paid for the ribbon. He admitted that this was overdrawn a little, but that nevertheless it emphasized his point, that the high cost of living was due in a large measure to the cost of distribution. One used to go to the store and buy and carry things home. Now it is different. Everything has to be delivered, and in most places they are delivered in automobiles, too. He made the startling prediction that before many years it would cost as much for distribution as it does for production.

Senator Burton said he entered congress in 1889, feeling kindly toward the Democratic party because he felt it was abused. But that he was not long in congress until he became a partisan. He soon realized, he said, the utter incapacity of that party to devise policies for the nation's welfare. He added solemnly:

"There never was a time in the history of this country when the people should bear more closely in mind that homely old adage, 'Let well enough alone.' Sunlight of heaven upon field and farm and factory, sunlight of prosperity everywhere. Oh! don't let us throw it away."

Conditions of 1892.

The speaker referred to the condition that prevailed in 1892 just before the Democratic panic of the following year. Conditions were similar to now, but when Grover Cleveland was elected everything was changed. He described the misery of 1893. He added that the Republican party stood for protection because it believed in a high standard of living, and diversity of employment. The latter makes wages good, he said. He referred to the present times as "blooming prosperity," and that the difference between it and Democratic "prosperity" was that two men were competing for one job under the Democratic and that there were two jobs for one man under the Republican. When he said that the vetoes of Democratic tariff bills by President Taft had prevented hard times, he was roundly applauded. He asserted the changing of the Republican protective policy to the Democratic free trade policy would be similar to the changing from a republic to a monarchy in this country. He said he believed in this glorious republic, and did not think the people were going to vote for a change. He predicted Taft's reelection and the crowd cheered lustily.

Senator Burton scored Roosevelt, and said he did not believe as the Bull Moose in making the trusts the wards of the government. He spoke of the glaring contrast between administrations of Taft and Roosevelt with regard to the trusts, and declared no president had done more for the workingman than President Taft. He referred to the workman's compensation act.

Tribute to Brown.

In the course of his address, Senator Burton said that the time may come when all county officers will be elected on a non-partisan ticket, and here he spoke favorably of the candidady of George E. Schroth, of Tiffin, candidate for judge of the new court of appeals, who sat beside Chairman Copeland. The speaker paid a marked tribute to General R. B. Brown as an old soldier and the Republican candidate for governor. He "panned" the Bull Moose movement and said the Bull Moosers ought to revise their campaign song, make it:

Onward Bull Moose soldiers, marching as for gore,
With the cash of Hanna going on before.

Chairman Copeland called the meeting to order at 7:30 o'clock. He first introduced George E. Schroth, of Tiffin, who made a short address, in which he said he hardly knew what to say in a partisan meeting as a non-partisan candidate. He left a good impression with his audience.

In introducing Senator Burton Chairman Copeland said that Ohio had always stood in the foremost ranks for able men, and that none had greater ability than Senator Burton, identified with the present administration, which had brought unprecedented prosperity to this country. The senator was warmly received.

OFFICERS ARE SELECTED BY THE NEW COMPANY

Meeting Held at Marion Clubhouse, Thursday Night.

HENRY STRELITZ NAMED TO SERVE AS PRESIDENT

Contract Is Signed with the Erie, Friday Morning, for the Taking Over of Property and Removal of Erie Employes to Marion—The Changes To Be Made Promptly.

Thursday night, the officers of the Citizens' Realty & Holding company were elected at a meeting held at the Marion clubhouse, on south Prospect street, and next morning the contract between the local company and the Erie for the removal of the railroad's Galion employes to Marion was formally signed.

By the terms of this contract, the railroad and the Citizens' company both agree to turn over to the Erie's Galion representative, Frank Pigman, the sum of $40,000, if needed, to buy and dispose of the Galion property of the railroad's employes removing to Marion.

How much of the $40,000 will be necessary to carry out the proposition is not now know. When the contract was signed, it was decided to call on the Marion subscribers for fifty per cent. of the amount of their subscriptions.

Dr. C. E. Sawyer, John F. Waddell, John F. Lust, Henry Strelitz and Charles D. Schaffner, the incorporators, were unanimously chosen directors of the Citizens' company at Thursday evening's meeting. The directors organized by electing Henry Strelitz, president; Dr. C. E. Sawyer, vice president; Charles D. Schaffner, secretary, and John E. Waddell, treasurer.

"Now that the money is raised and the contract is signed the property of the Galion railroad men will be purchased as speedily as possible and the remainder of the men will be brought here without any unnecessary delay," an Erie offical was quoted as saying, Friday.

QUIETLY CELEBRATES ANNIVERSARY OF BIRTH

Frank R. Salter Passes Seventy-Second Anniversary.

MAINTAINS HE IS OLDER THAN BRUEN FISHER

Is Reminded of How He Passes an Anniversary of His Birth in Maryland and of the Fact That He Drives a Hearse When the Cholera Raged in Marion.

Frank R. Salter, one of the best-known residents of Marion and Marion county, quietly celebrated the seventy-second anniversary of his birth, October 24. Mr. Salter's birthday anniversary follows that of his old friend and comrade, Bruen Fisher, by but a few days, and in spite of the fact that Mr. Salter maintains that he is much older than his friend, they usually celebrate the anniversaries of their births together.

Mr. Salter was reminded by the Star, Thursday evening, that the day was the anniversary of his birth, he grew reminiscent. He recalled the fact that just fifty-one years before, he was doing picket duty near Fort Pendleton in Maryland. He was doing night service, and during the day had received his first pay as a sergeant in the United States army. Sergeants received seventeen dollars a month. It had been a long time since the young sergeant had seen any real money, and the greenbacks looked good. Sergeant Salter, while on the picket line, was located near a deserted negro cabin. It was an inviting place, because it contained straw into which he could crawl and in the dim light count and recount this money—and look at it. That is the way he passed the evening of his birthday anniversary one year more than half a century before.

Mr. Salter was also reminded by the Star, and modestly admitted that he drove a hearse in Marion at the age of fourteen years, when he was in even more danger than when he laid down on the picket line to count his money. He drove the hearse which carried the remains of those who died of cholera in this city when that scourge was raging. Mr. Salter's father was at that time a village undertaker, and the boy stuck to his post of duty with his father and toyed with death in its worst form.

Mr. Salter has witnessed the transformation of Marion to a real city. As the city has grown, his friendships have multiplied, until, if all of them had appeared at a surprise party for the boy of the cholera hearse and the boy of the picket line, Thursday evening, he would have had good reason to feel much younger than his age would indicate.

KILLS THREE AND TAKES OWN LIFE

Murderer Found Dangling from a Tree.

WOMAN IS SURE HER HUSBAND IS GUILTY

Four-Year-Old Child Is the Only Witness.

Fred Ott, His Wife, and Father-in-Law Are Found Dead in Home at Plymouth, Wisconsin—Al. Roehr, Son-in-Law of Ott, Commits Suicide and Little Son Says He Witnesses Shooting.

Plymouth, Wis., Oct. 28.—Alvin Roehr, after shooting his father-in-law, Fred Ott, Mrs. Ott, and Mrs. Ott's father, Fred Haut, went into the woods near here and hanged himself today. The body was found swinging from a tree. It was several hours after the murders before the suicide's body was discovered.

The news of the shooting was brought to Plymouth by Mrs. Roehr. She accused her husband of the crime, although the only witness was her four-year-old son. The lad saw his father, with a shotgun, fire on the Otts and Haut.

Roehr and his wife, a daughter of Ott, separated about three years ago. The woman says she was in constant fear of her husband. Sunday night he appeared at the Ott home and she fled to an upstairs room and concealed herself.

Mrs. Roehr heard angry voices, she said, and finally the noise of a shotgun, fired repeatedly. A few minutes later her little boy knocked at her door.

"Grandpa is dead, so is grandma, and so is old grandad," the little lad told her. "Papa did it. I saw him shoot."

Mrs. Roehr took the boy into the room and locked the door again. She was afraid to go downstairs and, for some hours, waited in the room. Then she opened the door and went below, finding the three dead bodies. Her parents and her grandfather had been riddled with the charges from a shotgun. Her husband had left. She fled from the house and made her way to Plymouth, a distance of two miles, getting there shortly before daylight.

"I am sure it was my husband who did the shooting," Mrs. Roehr said. "I heard him asking for me and I ran up the stairs and hid. I was afraid of him. A few minutes later I heard the shots and then my little boy came running up stairs. He told me of the shooting.

The murder was discovered today when Ott failed to appear at his usual time at his place of business. An employe was sent to search for him.

The door of the Ott home was open and the bodies were found lying on the floor. The interior of the house was a wreck. Furniture had been overturned and broken and the floors of the rooms were stained with blood.

Just when the shooting occurred is not known, but it is believed the victims had been dead for some hours when they were found.

SHAMEFUL WASTE OF AMERICAN FARMERS

Marion County Ranks with Others in Extravagance.

PRODUCTS OF FARM AND ORCHARD ROTTING

Price Too Low To Warrant the Time Necessary To Gather and Market Onions, Apples and Winter Pears. Ready Market at Fifty Cents a Bushel Not Regarded Satisfactory.

A fine lesson as to the extravagance and waste of the American people can be obtained by a little journey through the eastern part of the county, and the lesson might be continued by looking over other parts of the county.

It may not be generally known, but some of the finest onion growing ground in the world is located some three miles north of Caledonia. This year the growers in that district were disappointed in the size and price of their product, and as a result enough onions to supply 500 families for a year are rotting on and in the ground. The onion raisers state that they can not afford to pull and market them at forty cents a bushel, the wholesale market price. Although the onions are not as large as the producer would naturally desire, they are very fair and the waste is shameful.

The onion raisers are not alone in such extravagance. The product of dozens of apple and pear orchards is rotting on the ground, or being left on the trees to freeze and waste. The owner of one orchard has allowed over 300 bushels of good apples to go to waste, claiming that he did not have the time or the inclination to undertake to market them at the prevailing price of fifty cents a bushel.

Another farmer hauled a wagon-load of apples to this city and sold them for fifty cents a bushel, one grocer taking them all. He was so badly disappointed in the price that he refused to market the rest of his crop and it is rotting. The same is holding good for the pear crop. Probably half of the choicest winter pears are being wasted by the producer. A peculiar feature of it all is that the farmer will dig his little potatoes and market them with the large ones, but will not pull his little onions or pick his apples and market them, when the price for a bushel of each is ranging about the same and less effort is required to gather a bushel of apples than to raise and dig a bushel of potatoes.

Knocked Senseless.

Simeon Adelman, employed at the Erie transfer-house, was knocked senseless as a result of a peculiar accident, Sunday afternoon. Adelman was pushing about 2,800 pounds of castings on a truck. He let the handles down and the weight of the iron slipped to one end and caused the handles to fly up, striking him on the jaw. He was taken in the Hess & Markert ambulance to the Marion City hospital, where he regained consciousness. No bones were broken. "It was like the kick of a mule," Adelman told the hospital nurses. He had a stiff neck Monday.

ROBERT J. PENNELL IS GIVEN APPOINTMENT

Is Named as the New Assistant Postmaster.

THE POSITION COMES UNDER CIVIL SERVICE

The Newly-Appointed Assistant Postmaster Will Begin His Duties in About One Week—Is Connected with the Postoffice as a Mail Carrier for Some Time Past.

Robert J. Pennell will be the new assistant postmaster, succeeding the late Horace S. Williams.

Mr. Pennell's appointment was announced by Postmaster M. B. Dickerson Monday.

The position carries with it a salary of $1,500 a year, and is permanent, coming under the civil service through executive order.

The newly-appointed assistant postmaster will assume his new duties as soon as his bond is approved. This probably will take a week, as it will be subjected to the usual governmental red tape.

Mr. Pennell has been connected with the local postoffice as a letter-carrier since 1903. He is a former school-teacher and well qualified for the responsible position of assistant postmaster.

Mr. Pennell is a member of the school board. He has always been a prominent Republican.

MISS INEZ G. KENYON DIES OF TUBERCULOSIS

Death Comes at Home of Father in Indiana.

Word has been received here of the death of Miss Inez G. Kenyon, the seventeen-year-old daughter of Rev. George Kenyon, of Michigantown, Indiana, a former resident of Marion.

Miss Kenyon died, Saturday morning at 3:30 o'clock, of Tuberculosis. Her death makes it doubly sad for the father as the young girl's mother died in 1902, and his only other child by his first marriage, Emery Kenyon, was drowned about two years ago. The deceased is survived by her father, step-mother, two half brothers and one half sister, and her aged grandfather, James Emery, of near Waldo, aside from many other relatives.

The remains arrived Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock, over the Big Four railroad, and were taken to the home of Mr. Kenyon's sister, Mrs. Henry Miller, of No. 226 Leader street. The funeral was held, Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock, from the Wesley M. E. church, Rev. D. N. Kelly officiating. Burial was made in the Marion cemetery.

There is but one method of acquiring wisdom, but when it comes to making a fool of himself a man can take his pick of a million different ways.

A daughter was born, Saturday, to Mr and Mrs. A. F. McNeal, of Birmingham, Alabama.

PRISONERS APPEAR IN COURT MONDAY

The Arraignment of the Men Under Indictment.

PLEAS ENTERED TO VARIOUS CHARGES

Mrs. Herman J. McMasters Brings an Action for Divorce in the Court of Common Pleas—Gross Neglect of Duty and Desertion Is Charged—Court Notes.

Six prisoners were arraigned before Judge W. E. Scofield, Monday morning, to plead to indictments. They were William DeHaven, charged with murder in the first degree; Redmond Lawrence, petit larceny in stealing $8.75 worth of horseshoe nails from the Clary blacksmith shop; Charles Edwards, burglary and larceny; George W. England, wronging his own daughter, Elizabeth; Wesley Banks, colored, assaulting Charles Busard, and Clifford Hazen, failing to provide for his infant son, Clifford Earl Hazen.

Hazen pleaded guilty, as did Lawrence to a second count charging him with receiving the stolen horseshoe nails, but the other prisoners pleaded not guilty. None of them had the means to procure counsel, and Judge Scofield appointed attorneys.

Lawrence was the first prisoner arraigned. He pleaded not guilty at first, but after the rest of the prisoners had been arraigned, Lawrence changed his mind and said he was willing to plead guilty to a charge of receiving stolen goods. Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Justice said Lawrence's plea was satisfactory to him, and he was allowed to enter a plea of guilty to the second count in the indictment.

Edwards pleaded not guilty to breaking into the barber shop owned by Cleo C. Brown in West Marion and stealing money and barber tools to the value of $38.25. John C. McNally was appointed to defend him, his trial being set for Monday, November 12. Edwards, in the Mayor's court, pleaded guilty.

DeHaven, who is charged with shooting to death Simon Glathart at the latter's bachelor home in Claridon township, August 31, swallowed a lump in his throat as he said "Not guilty." John D. DeGolley was appointed as his attorney and his trial was set for Monday, December 2. It was first set for Monday, November 18, but Attorney DeGolley declared he would like to have more time to prepare his case, and Judge Scofield granted his request.

George W. England, indicted for wronging his own daughter, asked that Louis E. Myers be appointed as his lawyer. His trial was fixed for Monday, November 18.

Judge Scofield fixed the date of the trial of Wesley Banks as Wednesday, November 13, and appointed D. R. Crissinger as his attorney. The lawyers in the court room whispered that Banks would object to the unlucky date, but instead he smiled a smile of confidence and looked immensely pleased as he gazed at his lawyer.

Hazen, who pleaded guilty to a charge of non-support, has formed a reconciliation with his wife since being arrested, and his wife now desires the court to give him a suspended sentence. Hazen was indicted by the May grand jury. He is nineteen years old and nice appearing.

Hentz Thornton, indicted for petit larceny for stealing chickens, was not arraigned. He is at liberty on bond.

Clarence Parr, by his next best friend, Samuel Parr, brought an action for $5,000 damages against the Erie Railroad company, in the court of common pleas, Monday. The petition was filed through Attorney French Crow. The plaintiff claims that he had his left arm so badly injured when employed by the defendant company that amputation was necessary. It appears, from the petition, that Parr caught his glove on a drill operated by machinery and that his arm was almost twisted off. The plaintiff claims that he was injured through no fault of his own, and that he was injured through the negligence of the defendant company.

Monday, through Attorney H. Edmund Hill, Jessie M. McMasters brought an action for a divorce from Herman J. McMasters. The McMasters were married in this city, May 2, 1912. The plaintiff charges gross neglect of duty, failure to provide and desertion. She asks for a divorce and custody of their child.

An order fixing the times for holding common pleas courts in the Tenth judicial district of Ohio for 1913, has been received by County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter. The dates for the beginning of the Marion county court of common pleas are: January 27, May 19 and October 13, 1913. At a meeting of the district's judges recently held at Kenton, Judge William P. Henderson was designated as supervising judge. The district is composed of Crawford, Hancock, Hardin, Logan, Marion, Seneca, Union, Wood and Wyandot counties the judges being William E. Scofield of Marion; Frank A. Baldwin, of Bowling Green; Daniel Babst, of Crestline; William P. Henderson, of Kenton; William F. Duncan, of Findlay, and John M. Brodrick, of Marysville.

In the suit of William E. Frye against Mildred M. Scoville and others, Mildred M. Scoville and her husband, Hurlburt S. Scoville, have filed an answer, setting up that the heating plant named in the petition has been a failure and they ask for damages against the petitioner in the sum of $1,000.

In the same suit, Edward Durfee filed an answer and cross-petition, in which he sets up a claim of $404, with interest.

The Marion Building, Savings & Loan company also has filed an answer and cross-petition in this suit. It seeks to recover a judgment of $7,048.74 on a promissory note.

Monday morning, Judge W. E. Scofield granted a decree of divorce to Florence Baldwin, who charged Lawrence Baldwin with gross neglect. She was also restored to her maiden name of Ilis.

Injunctions restraining the defendants from molesting or interfering in any way with the defendants have been granted in the divorce suits of Mary L. Anderson against Albert T. Anderson and Beulah Danner against Otto E. Danner.

Friends in Marion have received word of the birth of a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Claude Keller, of Sanger, California, October 16. Mr. Keller is a former Marion boy.

IS TRYING TO SECURE FORAKER FOR MARION

May Deliver a Speech in Local Court-Room.

COMING MEETINGS OF THE REPUBLICANS

J. Adam Bede and John M. Harlan Will Be Here Saturday—Will Without Doubt Speak at the Square from Automobiles—A Large Crowd Is Expected.

Monday, Secretary L. E. Myers, of the Republican executive committee, received from State Chairman Harry M. Daugherty, a letter, in which he says it can be arranged to bring the speakers of the "Protection and Prosperity" special uptown, next Saturday.

"But you had better have several automobiles at the train so that no time will be lost," Chairman Daugherty adds.

The speakers, J. Adam Bede and John M. Harlan, will be whisked in automobiles to the public square from the special train, which will arrive here from Upper Sandusky at 5:55 p. m. The speakers will address the crowd from the machines. Their train will depart for Columbus at 6:40.

Both of the speakers doubtless will attract a large audience, because they are among the star campaigners of the presidential fight for Taft's reelection. They have become justly celebrated because of having trailed Colonel Roosevelt through the West and prodding him so hard that the Bull Moose candidate for president frequently lost his temper because of it.

The Republican executive committee is now in correspondence with former Senator J. B. Foraker, with a view to getting him to come to Marion and deliver a speech in the court-room.

RECALLS FACTS ABOUT TARIFF

Taft Issues Statement Relative To Democratic Stand.

SITUATION LIKE THAT IN CLEVELAND'S TIME

Reviews Disastrous Effect of Democratic Program.

The President Says That When There Are Signs of a Cyclone, the Rational Man Does Not Wait for Storm To Hit His House Before Getting into Cellar—Predicts Surprise on Election Day.

Washington, Oct. 28.—Although sticking to his previously-announced intention not to make any political speeches during the present campaign, President Taft achieved the same result by issuing a lengthy statement from the White House today, relative to the Democratic stand on the tariff question.

"In view of erroneous statements," reads the White House document, "regarding the cause of the four years of depression which followed the second election of President Cleveland, it may be well to recall the facts. In his formal letter of acceptance, September 26, 1892, Mr. Cleveland emphasized the need of 'tariff reform' and made it the leading issue between the parties. The Democratic slogan now is 'a tariff for revenue only.'

"Accoring to the Baltimore platform, the tariff is not merely to be reformed, but the principle of protecting American industry is to be exorcised, root and branch. On that platform Governor Wilson stands.

"To go back to Mr. Cleveland's second term, the proof from his own writings is that he was elected on the issue of tariff reform. It is also a fact of history that, immediately on his election, capital and industry took alarm, enterprises became paralyzed and business disorganized. The somewhat puerile argument has been advanced that these deplorable conditions could not have been due to impending tariff, because they arose nearly two years before the enactment of the Wilson tariff bill.

Gets Out of Danger.

"When there are signs of a cyclone, the rational man does not wait for the storm to hit his house before getting into his cyclone cellar. The Wilson bill was in sight on the morning after the election, in November, 1892, and capital and industry started for the cellar, just as I fear they will take to the cellar again, should the Baltimore platform of 'a tariff for revenue only' be approved by the people November 5."

President Taft then reviewed the disastrous effect following the Cleveland regime, and then compared with them the highly prosperous condition of American commerce and internal interests, which he claims held sway under the Payne-Aldrich tariff law.

After asking for any reasons why this prosperity should be disturbed, the president concluded:

"On one side there is prosperity and real progress; on the other a leap in the dark. The American people have more than once surprised those who thought the people were being successfully fooled, and I believe that a similar surprise awaits our opponents on the coming 5th of November."

THE BULL MOOSERS ARE LOSING EVERY DAY

Organization Is Crumbling, Says Waltermire.

MANY DEMOCRATS WILL VOTE FOR TAFT

Conservative Democrats Will More Than Offset Bull Moose Vote The Farmers Are Not Ready To End the Days of Prosperity They Enjoy—View of Rural Districts

Beecher W Waltermire, Republican candidate for lieutenant governor chatted pleasantly with a reporter for the Star at Hotel Marion Tuesday He had come here from La Rue where he made a stirring address before a good sized audience Monday night

Almost everywhere the Bull Moose movement is crumbling declared Mr Waltermire his black eyes sparkling 'It s just crumbling away There s nothing holding it together

'I find all over Ohio that the most of the Bull Moosers and also a large number of the conservative Democrats are going to vote for President Taft Some of them come out openly and say they are going to vote for the continuance of protection and prosperity and that means a vote for Taft Others just whisper it that their vote will be cast for Taft

For every Bull Moose farmer that we will loose to Taft we will get two conservative Democratic farmers who are not going to vote to destroy their wonderful prosperity Don t you know it was the conservative Democrat that saved the day for us in 1896 and it is the same conservative Democrat who is going to save the day for us this time He will offset the Bull Moose movement against Taft if there really are enough Bull Moosers now to endanger his reeelction

If there is any serious danger of the Bull Moose it is not in the rural districts and this was not so a few weeks ago If there is any danger it is in the big centers of population

Mr Waltermire said he had not spoken in any of the big cities his speaking having been confined largely to rural communities

BURGLARS VISIT STORE OF WILLIAM P. KELLY

Carry Away Property Valued at More Than $100

TWO MEN ARRESTED ACKNOWLEDGE CRIME

Are Captured at Delaware and Brought to Marion—Man Caught at Galion and Accused of Stealing Watch and Vest Confesses Notes from the Police Court.

The clothing store of William P Kelly on west Center street which has been a mark for thieves was again entered by burglars between Saturday night and Sunday morning and a nice haul was made by the thieves The men charged with the burglary were arrested in Delaware Sunday and were entertained at the city prison here to answer to the charge They confessed to having broken into the store and confessed to the crime to the Delaware officers

Entrance to the store was gained by tearing the iron screen from one of the back windows The glass of the window was then broken sufficiently to permit reaching through and unlocking the window The men evidently had things their own way for they changed their old clothing in the store and left it in place of the new They took four suitcases away with them three of these were expressed to Columbus from Owens The other suitcase was in the possession of the pair when arrested

The suitcase recovered contained a suit some shirts underwear socks collars and gloves while each of the men wore a complete change of clothing and overcoats stolen from the store Chief McDonough accompanied by the proprietor of the store went to Delaware Sunday evening where Kelly identified the stolen property The chief brought the men back to Marion The other three suitcases are believed to be filled with merchandise stolen from the store several other suits being missed by the proprietor

Monday Kelley filed an affidavit against the fellows charging them with the theft of clothing to the value of $133 this value being placed on what was found in their possession For a time they refused to give their names but at noon Monday gave the mayor the names of Henry Allen and Harry Lewis and their homes as Columbus They are each about twenty five years of age and say they came here from Huntington Indiana

Henry Allen and Harry Lewis the two men charged with burglarizing the clothing store of William P Kelly early Sunday morning were arraigned before the mayor for hearing Monday afternoon The affidavit charged the young men with the theft of clothing amounting to $133 and they pleaded guilty to the charge They were bound over to the grand jury under a bond of $500 each in default of which they were committed to jail

Mrs Homer Berry was arrested about 9 o clock Sunday morning by Officers Powell and Thompson at the Powers livery barn and a charge of loitering was placed against her The Berry woman was before the mayor a month ago on a charge of masquerading in the Erie yards in male attire She was let off on her promise to be good in the future and keep off the streets of the city When taken before the mayor Monday morning she stated that she had kept her promise but went to the barn after the washing of a couple of men who are employed at the barn She had the washings with her and as she has been working the mayor released her but cautioned her not to go to the barn again but to have the washings sent to her

William Spayde was arrested at Galion Sunday about noon and was brought here Monday afternoon by Chief McDonough to answer to a charge of stealing a vest and watch belonging to Dennis Moloney of north Main street The theft was committed Sunday morning and Spayde made a confession after being arrested

Spayde secured a room at Moloney s Saturday night and left his overcoat in the drug store Sunday morning, Moloney opened the store and was building a fire while he left his vest and watch on the show case in the front part of the store Spayde entered for his coat and on out picked up the vest it is claimed The stolen property was soon missed and the police were notified Spayde was seen to board an east bound freight and the Galion officers were notified

The officers at Galion met the train but Spayde had secreted the watch in a dynamo on a flat car on which he had been riding The brakeman of the train found the watch and Spayde then made a confession He told where the vest could be found and following his directions the officers found the vest at the rear of Long s livery barn

WILBERT DURFEY IS GRANTED A DIVORCE

Wife Deserts Him and Returns to First Husband.

COURT IS PROMPT TO ACT IN MATTER

A Complete Record of an Old Proceeding in Foreclosure Contains Some Interesting Figures—The Case Dates Back to 1863—Other Common Pleas Court Notes.

It took Judge William E Scofield about five minutes, Tuesday, to grant Wilbert Durfey a Marion Steam Shovel company employe, a divorce from Myrtle Durfey whom he charged with deserting him for her first husband

Durfey who is about thirty-three years old testified that he was married to Myrtle Leonard October 24 1910 after she had been divorced from Elmer Leonard a sign painter Shortly after the marriage he said he discovered her true character and the fact that he did not love him

In August 1911 Durfey said his wife ran away and left him joining her firsthusband with whom, he testified she is now living at McBain Michigan

Judge Scofield entered an absolute decree of divorce

In the suit of Charles F Kraner and Sophia Fies against Thomas L Reid and others an action to quiet title in the old Kraner homestead on south Main street the defendants through Attorney H D Lease of Kenton and Carhart & Warner have filed an answer They deny that they now or ever did claim any interest in or lien upon the real estate described in the plaintiffs petition

County Clerk W W Klinefelter is making a complete record in the old foreclosure proceeding of Frederick Raichley against Edmond Steckel and others for Crissinger & Guthery who in abstracting lot No 60 located in the southeast corner of Main and Church streets and owned by Jacob F Leffler found the record incomplete

Missing from the record were the proof of publication and the master commissioner s report Clerk Klinefelter is including these in his complete record in the old foreclosure proceeding which was begun in January 1863 The lot on which the two story brick business block now stands at Main and Church then sold at master commissioner s sale for $667 to Frederick Raichley It was appraised at $1 000 T J Anderson was master commissioner and I R Culbertson was county clerk William Lawrence appraised the journal entry in the case as common pleas judge

HOW TO REDUCE COST OF LIVING

Benjamin F Yoakum

In a speech before the convention of southwestern growers, Benjamin F Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago & San Francisco railroad and a director in many other roads, made a plea for a national market In part he said American manufacturers merchants bankers and business men have been engaged for the past few years in a concerted effort to increase the efficiency of their manufacturing merchandising and financing by reducing the cost of production and the cost of selling If a national market bureau is created with a man of business at its head thoroughly alive to the comprehensive work to be accomplished unhampered by politics, and an appropriation of $500,000 to organize and carry forward the work much good will follow It will take a good deal of time to get the confidence of the small farmers through any other system I shall be satisfied when the Oklahoma farmer can get $300 per car for his watermelons instead of $53, the balance being divided between the cost of distribution and the consumer

THIRTEENTH ANNUAL CONVENTION IS CLOSED

Pythian Sisters of the Eighth District Transact Business.

ADDRESSES GIVEN BY VARIOUS SPEAKERS

Musical Numbers Are Rendered Throughout the Program — A Number of Reports Are Received as to the Work of Temples. Gathering Concluded with Dance.

The thirteenth annual convention of the Pythian Sisters of the Eighth district was held in this city, Wednesday afternoon and evening, and was voted by the visitors one of the most enjoyable conventions held by the lodges of the district. The register showed the presence of 225 visitors from over the district, which comprises twenty-one temples, this number being exclusive of almost all of the members of the two local temples.

The convention was called to order at 1 o'clock by Mrs. Gertrude Baker, district deputy grand chief, after which the session was opened with a song and prayer. Attorney Fred W. Warner delivered the address of welcome which was well received. The response was made by Mrs. Fannie Willauer, of Mt. Victory. The grand chief's greetings were made by Mrs. Cora B. Hutchinson, of Delaware. The roll call of the temples was then taken, the only places failing to respond with delegates being Belle Center, Cardington and Rushsylvania.

The Kenton Meeting.

After the reading of the minutes of the convention held in Kenton last year, Mrs. Etta Radebaugh and Mrs. Eva Hunter rendered a piano duet. After the reports of the delegates and a vocal solo by Mrs. Fern Daley, of Delaware, Mrs. Emma Dolle, of Bucyrus, read a paper on "Woman's Mission." A selection by the quartet from LaRue was well received, after which Mrs. Fannie Boyd, of Columbus, past grand chief, read a paper on "Temple Benefits." Mrs. Osborn, of Delaware, contributed an interesting reading. A memorial service was conducted by Canby Temple, No 152. Installation was exemplified by Marion Temple, No. 381, and balloting was exemplified by the two local temples. After a selection by a duet from Kenton, the question box was conducted by the grand chief. The report of the committees and district treasurer, and a few short remarks by some of the delegates closed the afternoon session.

Some Degree Work.

At the close of the program thirty-six past chiefs of the district took the degree of the Past Chiefs' association, the degree being given by Mrs. Cora B. Hutchinson, grand chief. During the entire afternoon lunch was served by the Past Chiefs' association. Mrs. Henry Mumford and Mrs. Louis Drollinger presiding at the punch bowl.

After dinner at 5:30 o'clock, in the banquet hall of Marion Temple, the members returned to the hall of Canby Temple where the evening session was opened in ritualistic form at 7 o'clock. The admission of the grand officers was followed by an exemplification of ritualistic work by the two local temples. The La Rue quartet contributed a selection, which was followed by a vocal duet by Mrs. Eva Hunter and Miss Lulu Keller. This was followed by a pantomine by the Mt. Gilead Temple, this being one of the pleasing features of the evening.

Fancy Drill Given.

A fancy drill by the degree team of Marion Temple, No. 381, received much comment. The team made a fine appearance in the new robes which were worn for the first time. After a few remarks by Mrs. Mary Price and Mrs. Fannie Boyd, past grand chief of the order, Miss Lulu Keller rendered a pleasing vocal selection. Mrs. Cora Hutchinson, grand chief, concluded the program with a paper, after which refreshments were served. The hall was then cleared and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. Many of the visiting delegates and representatives remained over night as guests of the members of the local lodges.

It was decided to hold the convention next year at Delaware. The various committees of the convention are as follows.

The Committees.

District Officers—Mrs. Gertrude A. Baker, district deputy; Mrs. Ida Ritzhaupt, district secretary; Mrs. Lyda Gunder, district treasurer.

Resolutions—Mrs. Laura Raub, of La Rue; Mrs. Ada Ward, of Edison; Miss Daisy McGee, of Richwood.

Program—Mrs. Gertrude A. Baker, Mrs. Lyda Kimber and Mrs. Crystal Morrison.

Reception—Mrs. Dollie McKinley, Mrs Orthia Ohls, Mrs. Lena Allen, Mrs. Emma Ballentine, Mrs. Martha Shurz, Mrs. Myrtle Tavener, Mrs. Lottie Rush, Mrs. Genevieve Blazer, Mrs. Ruth Shoots and Miss Gertrude Brewer.

Social—Mrs. Addie Reber, Mrs. Martha Scherff, Mrs. Lyda Bentz, Mrs Dora Lewis, Mrs. Mary Klinefelter, Mrs. Clara Paddock, Mrs. Ida Brewer and Mrs. Susan Campbell.

Decorating—Mrs. Stella Smith, Mrs. Mayme Davidson, Mrs. Anna Ulsh, Mrs. Eva Hunter and Mrs. Blanch Maass.

Trains—Mrs. Kate Evans, Mrs. Myrtle Kraner, Mrs. Sarah Cooper and Mrs. Clara Watzel.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Beryl Ola Munson, of LaRue, and Lloyd C. Dille, of Hardin county.

MISS CLARA HECKER WEDS IN CALIFORNIA

Married to Mr. Burton A. Moore in San Francisco.

COMPANY OF FRIENDS WITNESSES CEREMONY

Mr. and Mrs. Moore Will Make Future Home in Los Angeles. The Bride Has a Wide Circle of Friends, Who Will Be Pleased To Learn of Her Marriage.

A telegram was received, Thursday morning, by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hecker, of White Oaks farm, from their daughter, Clara, who left last week for San Francisco to be married to Mr. Burton A. Moore, a government bank inspector, of Long Beach, California, stating that they were married at the Page Street German Methodist church in San Francisco, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. The wedding march was played by Miss Lillian Schneider and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Jacob Schneider, assisted by Rev. F. W. Meyer. Both ministers are friends of Rev. J. C. Guenther, pastor of the local German M. E. church.

The marriage was to have taken place in this city this month, but the groom was unavoidably detained indefinitely on account of government work and was unable to come to Ohio to claim his bride.

Mrs. Moore is a graduate of the Dr. C. E. Sawyer sanatorium of the class of 1909, and shortly after her graduation left for Los Angeles where she had charge of the hygienic labratories of the public schools. While there she met Mr Moore. She returned to Marion last July, and the announcement of her engagement, this fall, came as a pleasant surprise to a host of admiring friends.

Mr. Moore is not only a bank inspector, but is extensively engaged in the real estate business at San Pedro and Long Beach.

REPUBLICANS GATHER WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Rally at Adelaide Attracts a Big Crowd.

HON. W. M. KOONS DELIVERS AN ADDRESS

Why the Mills and Shops Are Not Affected by the Present Presidential Election—Country Is Prosperous in Every Sense—Cause for the High Cost of Living.

Hon. W. M. Koons, of Mt. Vernon, addressed a large crowd at Adelaide, Wednesday night. He said in part:

"One of the movements in which Presient Taft is misunderstood is reciprocity. Mr. Taft wrote to Colonel Roosevelt on the subject, and Colonel Roosevelt said it would have a good effect if it could mean free wool. Mr. Taft objected to free wool. The Canadians thought reciprocity meant more to us than to them, and they voted it down.

"The progress of the nation is greater and the mills, shops and factories are running better than ever before in history during a presidential election.

"I came from a class of laborers and I think the laborer should be given his proper place in the scale of living. I trust that no word will be said here tonight that will offend any one. I cling to Mr. Taft and not to Wilson or Roosevelt.

"The high cost of living is caused by the fact that years ago the boys worked on the farm, and now they are going to the cities. Where thirty-five per cent. did live in the cities, now eighty-five per cent. live there. The boys are urged to get rich quick and marry well, rather than to work as our fathers did. Clerical work is easier than farm work. The cost of living has increased all over the world where civilization is known."

The meeting was most enthusiastic. W. H. Harrington, of Caledonia, chairman of the Republican executive committee, presided. The Claridon band furnished music.

THE SUTTON HOME SCENE OF MARRIAGE

Miss Munson and Mr. Lloyd C. Dille Married.

Miss Beryl Ola Munson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Munson, residing two miles east of LaRue, and Mr. Lloyd C. Dille, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Dille, of near Kenton, were united in marriage, at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, at the home of Rev. J. A. Sutton, at LaRue. The ceremony was performed in the presence of four of the friends of the contracting parties and the officiating minister. Both are prominent young people, with a wide circle of friends. Following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Dille went to the home of the groom's parents, where they will reside until spring.

A son was born, Tuesday evening, to Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Kates, residing on south Prospect street.

Bulgars are between the city's defensive works and the Turks on the south.

Crushing Defeat.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—A crushing defeat has been inflicted upon General Nazim Pacha's Turkish army, 200,000 strong, southeast of Luleburgas.

Dispatches from the front today stated that the Turks have given way and were in retreat. Fighting between the Turkish rear guard and the advance guard of the advancing Bulgarians extends along a line thirty miles in length between Muradial and Corlu, north of the Orient railway.

The Turks are falling back upon Tychataldja, the last defence of Constantinople, where they will make their final stand in defence of the capital.

Luleburgas, an important Turkish point southeast of Adrianople, has been taken by the Bulgarians after a three days bombardment. Fighting was in progress all night, the dispatches say.

Adrianople Taken.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Adrianople has been captured by the Bulgarians, according to an unconfirmed report telegraphed today from the theater of war. The Bulgarians are said to have made a general attack upon the city and, after a terrific bombardment of two hours, the Turks raised the white flag.

The citadel was defended by a second Turkish army of 50,000 men, under Abdullar Pacha, chief of staff.

Montenegrins Defeated.

Montenegrin Army Headquarters, Podgoritza, Oct. 31.—Three hundred Montenegrins fell in an unsuccessful night attack upon the Turkish fortress on the heights of Tarabosch, shortly after midnight.

Turkish sentries gave the alarm of the Montenegrin approach and artillery fire was opened as they charged up the slopes before the ramparts, causing them to retreat with heavy causualties. The dead were left upon the field.

To Protect Constantinople.

London, Oct. 31.—The European powers are reported to have entered into an agreement to protect Constantinople from the Balkan allies. Vienna dispatches say the foreign ministers of the Eurpoen governments have agreed that the entry of Bulgarian troops into the Turkish capital will not be tolerated. It is understood the Balkan kindgoms are preparing to accept intervention.

Former Sultan Disappears.

Paris, Oct. 31.—Abdul Hamid, former sultan of Turkey, has mysteriously disappeared.

A Salonika dispatch stated that the former sultan had been taken from the city and was on his way to Constantinople. His removal was caused by fear that he would be captured by the Greek army.

A Constantinople telegram stated that Abdul Hamid could not reach that city from Salonika, because the Bulgarians had cut the railway and a Greek fleet had the port under blockade.

Abdul Hamid's whereabouts is now a mystery.

Suicide Reported.

Sofia, Oct. 31.—Muktar Pacha, son of the Turkish premier, who is commanding a division of the Turkish army at Adrianople, is reported to have committed suicide when his troops were defeated with heavy losses south of the Marasch river and driven back by the Bigarians.

Greeks Lack Provisions.

Larissa, Greece, Oct. 31.—Crown Prince Constantine's Greek army, which is now moving upon Salonika from Verria and is short of provisions. The soldiers are suffering from hungar. Reports from the front today stated that the Greeks were pushing on at utmost speed to reach the coast, in order to obtain supplies by ship.

Bombard Bulgar City.

Constantinople, Oct. 31.—A Turkish squadron today bombarded Burgas, on the Bulgarian coast, and landed troops to strike at the rear of Czar Ferdinand's army, according to reports received by the marine ministry this afternoon.

Queen Leaves for Front.

Athens, Oct. 31.—Queen Olga has left for the front to join King George.

"If necessary I will shoulder a musket and fight in the ranks for my country," the Queen declared upon leaving Larissa today.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL GIVEN FOR REBEKAHS

A Delightful Affair Is Enjoyed at Caledonia.

Caledonia, O., Oct. 31.—[Special]—Deborah Rebekah Lodge, No. 412, very pleasantly entertained at a masked Halloween social in the lodge hall, Wednesday evening. The hall was prettily decorated suggestive of the season and refreshments were served. About 100 were present. During the evening, games and music and a general social time was enjoyed. The out-of-town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Apt, of Edison, and Mr D. C. Decker, of Marion.

Most old bachelors are misunderstood by women—for which they should be thankful.

The Annual Feast.

The annual feast of the G. A. R. at LaRue was held in their hall, Wednesday evening, about 150 members and friends of the veterans being present. An elaborate spread was enjoyed, and during the evening talks were made by various speakers.

HIGH TRIBUTE IS PAID SHERMAN

President Taft Issues Proclamation Today.

NATION-WIDE HONOR ON DAY OF FUNERAL

Will Be Accorded the Dead Vice President.

Words of Unqualified Praise Used by Mr. Taft in Order That All Executive Offices Be Closed and All Flags in Nation Be Lowered to Half Mast in Sherman's Honor. Senate To Attend Funeral.

Washington, Oct. 31.—With a high tribute to James S. Sherman, President Taft today, in a proclamation, directed that all executive offices be closed and all flags be lowered to half mast on the day of the funeral. The proclamation follows:

"James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died at his home in Utica, New York, at 9:30 on the evening of October 30, 1912. In his death the nation has lost one of its most illustrious citizens and one of its most efficient and faithful servants. Elected, at an early age, to the mayoralty of his native city, the continued confidence of his community was shown by his election for ten terms as a representative in the national congress As a legislator he at once took and retained high rank and displayed such attributes of upright and wise statesmanship as to commend him to the people of the United States for the second highest office within their gift. As the presiding officer of the senate Mr. Sherman won the respect and esteem of all by his fairness and impartiality. His private life was noble and good. His genial disposition and attractiveness of character endeared him to all whose privilege it was to know him. His devotion to the best interests of his native land will endear his memory to his fellow countrymen.

"In respect to the memory and the eminent and various services of this high official and this patriotic public servant, I direct that, on the day of the funeral, the executive offices of the United States shall be closed and all posts and stations of the army and navy shall display the national flag at half mast, and that the representatives of the United States in foreign countries shall pay tribute to the illustrious dead for a period of thirty days."

All Senators Appointed.

New York, Oct. 31.—All the members of the United States senate were today appointed to the congressional committee to attend the funeral of Vice President Sherman Senator A. O. Bason, president pro tem. of the senate, today sent the following telegram to Colonel Ramsdell, sergeant-at-arms of the senate in Washington:

"Please telegraph to each senator, informing him, as a mark of special honor, and in accordance with what is doubtless the wish of the senate, I have appointed the entire senate as a body to attend the funeral of the late Vice President James S Sherman You will inform the senators as to the time and place of meeting."

Senator Bacon gave out the following statement:

"Vice President Sherman's death will be greatly deplored in the senate He was a most excellent and efficient presiding officer and, by his uniform courtesy and strict impartiality, greatly endeared himself to all the senators, regardless of party affiliations In social intercourse, his genial, cordial and sincere manner made him the personal friend of all His loss will be mourned by them most sincerely."

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE JOINED IN MARRIAGE

Miss Maud Roberts and Mr. Clyde Trontman Wed.

Prospect, O., Oct 31.—[Special]—Miss Maud Roberts was united in marriage to Mr. Clyde Troutman, of Lima, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Roberts, at Robertsburg, Wednesday noon The ceremony was performed by Rev A J Woodworth, pastor of the Baptist church, in the presence of the most intimate friends and relatives. The ring ceremony was used. The bride was gowned in white and carried a bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley

An elegant wedding dinner was served, the decorations being in yellow and white

At 4 30 o'clock the young people left on an interurban car for Marion and from there went to Lima where they will reside.

The bride is a charming young woman and a favorite in the younger social set of Prospect. She is a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan university of the class of 1911. Mr. Troutman is engaged in the mercantile business in Lima.

MILDRED CLICK IS BITTEN BY A BULLDOG

Child Attacked While Enroute to Public Library.

Mildred Click, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr and Mrs Charles Click, of south High street, was badly bitten by a bulldog at the home of Mrs. Frederick Kowalke, at noon Thursday. The little girl was on her way to the public library and was passing the Kowalke home, on south Main street, when the dog bounded out of the yard and caught her on the left leg, badly lacerating the member about two inches below the knee. The forepart of the leg was torn open about an inch by the dog's fangs, and was badly bruised. Two or three spots under the knee show where the fangs came in contact with the flesh The wound is quite deep and bled profusely.

After biting the child the dog loosened his hold and the girl ran up on the Kowalke porch, closely followed by the dog. Mrs Kowalke, hearing the child's screams, rushed out and carried her into the house She bathed and dressed the wound, and hastily summoned a surgeon The victim was later taken to her home

INTERNATIONAL RACE IS WON BY FRANCE

United States Will Likely Get Second in Great Balloon Race.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Notwithstanding the fact that two of the balloons in the international race, which started from Stuttgart last Sunday, are still unaccounted for, the James Gordon Bennett trophy was today awarded to France.

The two balloons still unaccounted for are the Ile de France, of France, and the unofficial American entry, the Dusseldorf II.

As the French balloon, Picardie, has already broken the international record for distance, the result could not be affected by the showing of the balloons still unheard from.

It is likely the United States will get second place.

Republican Nominee for Sheriff

Election November 5th, 1912

To the TAFT and BULL MOOSE Voters:

Boys, do you stop to think that both elements helped to nominate a Republican county ticket before the Moose was born? Now, not insinuating that you entertain any such idea as ignoring the county ticket, but, as conservative and conscientious men, do you think it would be right to use we county candidates as a chopping block? Should the Moose horn hard enough this time to justify a county ticket in 1914—grind your ax then; don't knife now, for that would be an injustice to we candidates. Let us have peace and harmony in the county election, for all of we candidates have been meeker than Mary's lamb ever dared to be

I hope the G. O. P.'s and the Progressive party, as a body, will take one more Stonewall Jackson stand for the county ticket on Nov. 5. I am open for investigation and should I bear inspection will appreciate as many votes as you can possibly give me out of the many different political camps.

I promise, if elected, to be governed by my oath of office. never abuse your confidence nor allow the office to make a fool of me. Sincerely hoping you will consider the above and act accordingly, is the wish of J. J. FRANCIS, candidate for sheriff.

THE SUPREME COURT SUSTAINS LOWER COURT

Matter of Halsey and Others Against Various Officials.

Thursday, county commissioners received word from Columbus to the effect that the supreme court had affirmed the circuit court in the matter of Charles H. Halsey and Ezekiel Browne against the Brooks free turnpike commisisoners, the county commissioners, the county surveyor and the county auditor.

Messrs. Halsey and Brown sought to enjoin the construction of the Brooks free turnpike in Grand Prairie township after the county commissioners had granted the improvement. That was about three years ago.

Suit was begun in the court of common pleas, and the plaintiffs lost. They then appealed to the circuit court, which affirmed the lower court.

Crissinger & Guthery, representing the plaintiffs, carried the case to the state's highest tribunal, which denied the injunction prayed for and affirmed the circuit court. Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. Jusitec represented the defendants.

The supreme court mandate probably will be received by County Clerk W. W. Klinefelter this week.

GEORGE CASKEY IS FINED BY JUSTICE

Pays an Assessment of $25 and Costs Wednesday.

George Caskey, fifty years old, pleaded guilty to a charge of cruelty to his second wife, Rebecca, in the court of Justice Charles E. Gompf, Wednesday evening, and was fined $25 and costs. He settled.

Last Friday, Caskey, when intoxicated, is alleged to have beaten his wife at Morral. He was recently arrested and locked up by the village marshal after a long struggle between Caskey and the officer. He was fined $20 and costs on charges of intoxication, disorderly conduct and resisting an officer. He paid.

Several Morral residents concluded that Caskey had not been sufficiently punished because Mrs. Claskey's eyes were blackened and she presented a pitiable sight. They reported Caskey's mistreatment of his wife to Humane Officer J. W. Ulsh, who again arrested Caskey on a charge of cruelty in Bucyrus, Wednesday afternoon.

Oats—Cash, 35; December 34½; May, 36¼.

Cloverseed—Cash to March 11.15. Alsike—13.20.

CHICAGO.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—Wheat showed fractional gains this morning, but there was liberal selling on the hard spots and this was led by the longs. Liverpool wheat market was colorless, as the nearby months were lower while the deferred futures were higher. Weather in England is unsettled, receipts in the country are small and there was a better demand for cargoes. A report was received that the Argentine wheat crop had been damaged by hail, but this was not confirmed. Flour prices were at least 10 to 20c. lower and the market was reported as dull. Northwestern receipts were in excess of a year ago.

Corn was a shade better on covering by shorts and smaller offerings, with the unsettled weather a leading factor.

Oats were firm and unchanged.

Hogs at the yards were 5c. higher and lard and ribs were up fractionally, while pork was lower.

Opening: Wheat — May, 96⅝; December, 91¼.

Corn—May 51⅞@52; July 52¼; December, 52½.

Oats—May 34⅛; December 32⅛.

Pork—May 18.22; January 18.45.

Lard—May 10.35; January 10.62.

Ribs—9.75; January, 10.00.

Fractional reactions were shown in wheat late today when scattered small shorts covered and prices were bid up¾ to ½c. from the bottom. Net gains were shown of ⅛@¼c. for the day. Kansas City exporters have not bought wheat in three days and some say the selling in that market today was in the way of reselling by those who bought and expected to make shipments of the wheat.

Corn closed with gains of ⅛ to ⅜c., the latter being for the October, in which shorts were covering.

Oats were a shade easier for the December, ¼ off for May and ⅛c. lower for July.

Hog products closed at advances all around.

Cash sales at Chicago were 80,000 bushels wheat, 265,000 bushels corn, 355,000 bushels oats and 10,000 bushels rye.

Close: Wheat—May, 96½; July, 92¾; December, 91¼.

Corn—May, 51⅞; July, 52¼; December, 52⅛.

Oats—May, 33⅞; July, 33⅝; December, 32.

Pork—May 18.22; October 16.25; January, 18.62.

Lard—May 10.27; October 10.95; January, 10.67.

Ribs—May, 9.77; October, 10.60; January, 10.00.

YOUNG MAN IS GIVEN A CHANCE BY COURT

Sentence Is Suspended During Good Behavior.

CLIFFORD HAZEN IS GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Mrs. Miner Metzger Brings a Suit for a Divorce—Plaintiff Charges That Husband Strikes and Abuses Her—A Suit Begun in Attachment—Some Court Notes.

"I deserve the sentence, judge, but I'd like to be given a chance to do right."

Nineteen-year-old Clifford Hazen swallowed the lump in his throat and hung his head. He had been indicted for failing to support his babe and was arraigned for sentence. His girl wife, accompanied by her father, sat in the court-room. She looked pleadingly toward the court, for a reconciliation had been brought about in the jail following young Hazen's return from the West and his subsequent arrest.

"I am glad to hear you say that," the court commented. "And I believe you will try and do better if given another chance, so the court is going to sentence you to one year in the Ohio penitentiary and suspend the sentence, allowing you to have your liberty on a recognizance bond."

The judge then wished the prisoner success in his resolve to do better and said he trusted he would make a good husband and father.

In the divorce suit of Ella Louise Thompson against Charles A. Thompson, the defendant, through Attorney Louis E. Myers, has filed an answer, setting up a general denial. He asks that his wife's petition be dismissed.

Alleging ill-treatment, Margaret E. Metzger, through Crissinger & Guthery, Thursday, brought an action for a divorce from Miner Metzger. The Metzgers were married September 11, 1910. Last winter, the plaintiff alleges that the defendant struck and beat her. She asks for a divorce and restoration to her former name of DeLauder.

A suit in attachment was begun in the court of common pleas, Tuesday, by A. W. Brinkerhoff & Sons, of Upper Sandusky, piano dealers, against Burt Stevens, of Morral. Although two promissory notes for $120 each alleged to have been given by the defendant to the plaintiff are not due until December 1, 1912, and December 1, 1913, the plaintiff seeks to attach his personal property because, it is set up, Stevens is about to dispose of it and move away. Attachment papers were issued and turned over to Sheriff John G. Stark.

Because four little children are dependant upon Wesley Banks, colored, confined in the county jail by reason of having been indicted for committing assault and battery on Charles Busard, the prisoner's bond was fixed at $100 by Judge William E. Scofield at the request of Attorney D. R. Crissinger, Thursday. The county is now supporting Banks' family, and his bond was fixed at a nominal sum so that the negro could furnish it, and go to work on the streets after being given his liberty.

JESSE L. STAFFORD DIES THURSDAY

The Passing of a Well-Known Resident of the City.

HE LEAVES A WIDOW AND FOUR CHILDREN

Mr. Stafford Is a Veteran of the Civil War—A Resident of Marion County Since 1840—The Funeral Services To Be Held at the Family Residence, Saturday Morning.

Jesse Lambert Stafford, aged eighty-one years, seven months and four days, died from the infirmities of age at his home, No. 281 Barnhart street, Thursday morning at 4:10. His death was not unexpected.

The deceased was a native of Essex county, Pennsylvania, having been born there, March 27, 1831. He had been a resident of Marion county since 1840. He was a veteran of the civil war, having enlisted in the Sixty-Fourth Ohio volunteer infantry, October 21, 1861. At the expiration of his three-years' enlistment he reenlisted for three years, January 1, 1864, and was mustered out of service at Victor, Texas, December 3, 1865. He arrived at his home at Caledonia, January 6, 1866.

Mr. Stafford was a carpenter by occupation, and was widely known throughout the county. He was the last of a family of eleven children save one, Mrs. Juliette Ayers, of Iowa. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Amanda Lint, whom he married July 5, 1857, and the following children:

S. D. Stafford, Mrs. Minnie Fail, William C. Stafford and Mrs. Nellie Reed.

The funeral services will be held at the late residence, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Rev. C. A. Pearce officiating. Interment will be made in the Marion cemetery.

MRS. JACOB RUTH COMMITS SUICIDE

Despondent as the Result of Death of Husband.

News has been received here of the suicide of Mrs. Jacob Ruth, sixty-nine years old, at her home in Sandusky, Tuesday. Mrs. Ruth had been taking treatment for nervous trouble at the Sawyer sanatorium in this city and had recently returned to her home. She jumped into a cistern located in the cellar of her home. The suicide was despondent because her husband died three months ago.

PAST GRAND DEGREE CONFERRED ON A CLASS

An Important Meeting Is Held by Odd Fellows.

CHARTER FOR MARTEL LODGE IS APPROVED

The Fraternal Order of Eagles Enjoys a Delightful Evening—Business Is Followed by a Social Session—National Protective Legion Gives a Masquerade Dance.

The past grand degree was conferred on a class at a meeting of the Past Grand association in the hall of Wayside Lodge. No 864, I. O. O. F., Wednesday night.

Following the work, it was unanimously decided to recommend that a charter for an Odd Fellows lodge be granted to Martel. The recommendation will be forwarded immediately to S. C. Goodrich, of Troy, and the lodge will be instituted within the next thirty days. The date will be announced later. It will be instituted by Marion Odd Fellows.

Eagles Enjoy Evening.

The Fraternal Order of Eagles gave a social in the lodge hall after the regular business session, Wednesday evening, for the members and friends of the order. The regular session of the lodge was opened early and lasted but a short time, sixteen applications being balloted on.

After the business session, a progressive euchre contest was the feature. In the play at cards Verne Pinyard won the largest number of games of the guests and received a pipe. A. C. Seffner won the lodge prize, a solid gold Eagle pin. After the season at cards, lunch was served. A smoker was enjoyed and the remainder of the time was passed in playing pool. The entertainment committee was composed of P. H. Neidig, John Abel and M. D. Lehman.

The lodge will meet next Wednesday night, at which time a number of applications will be given attention.

Masquerade Dance.

The National Protective legion gave a masquerade dance in the lodge hall on east Church street, Wednesday evening, about thirty couples being present. The costumes afforded much entertainment. After the masks were removed, dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. The music was furnished by Noble's orchestra.

The regular business meeting of the lodge will be held the second Wednesday in November.

DEPARTING MINISTER IS HIGHLY ESTEEMED

Local Ministers Pay Tribute to Dr. C. R. Havighursst.

The Ministerial association has paid the following tribute to Dr. C. R. Havighurst:

"The Ministerial association of Marion, Ohio, desires to express its high esteem for the Rev. C. R. Havighurst, D. D., and its regret in severing the fraternal ties which have made our companionship with him so pleasant and helpful.

"We recognize in him the thoroughly equipped minister, the brilliant and scholarly preacher, the tender and faithful pastor, the courteous gentleman, the public spirited citizen, and a brother beloved among all the churches of the city.

"We most heartily wish for him the greatest success in his new pastorate at Youngstown, Ohio, and cherish the feeling that the pleasant memory of our past fellowship with him is but a type and prophecy of our future association in the life beyond; Be it,

"Resolved, That a copy of these words of appreciation be sent to him and also published in the Marion Daily Star and the Marion Ohio Tribune.

"William R. Ferguson,
"Chairman of Committee."

LEWIS THOMPSON IS MAKING LONG WALK

Young Man Hopes To Improve His Physical Condition.

Lewis Thompson, aged eighteen years, whose home is in Frontier, Michigan, stopped in the city several hours this morning enroute on a walking trip from his home to Richmond, Virginia. The youthful pedestrian is not walking for a wager and is not soliciting aid on the way. He is a sign painter by trade and makes his expenses by doing small jobs at various places while enroute.

The distance between the two places is about 700 miles and Thompson has covered the stretch from his home to Marion in ten days. He expects to reach his destination by December 30. Thompson is not in the best of health and is making the novel trip in the hope of improving his condition. He left here for Columbus where he will spend the night.

POLICE COURT.

The local police received a call from the Kenton police department, Wednesday night, requesting them to be on the lookout for a gray overcoat stolen at that place during the early part of the evening. The coat had the trade mark of Stein-Bloch, and also the trademark of the Kenton dealers who sold the coat. A description of two young foreigners suspected of the theft was furnished the local police.

THE MARION WEEKLY STAR.

$1.00 PER YEAR IN ADVANCE.

THE HARDING PUBLISHING CO.

SATURDAY - - - NOVEMBER 2, 1912

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY TICKET.

The Star takes pleasure in commending to the voters of Marion county the ticket placed in nomination by the Republican party. From W. H. Rolverstott, whose service to the citizenship of the county as commissioner is a fitting recommendation for his candidacy for the state legislature, to Dr. C. G. Smith, the successful practicing physician who is the party's candidate for county coroner, it is strong and well-balanced.

Carroll W. Davidson, candidate for clerk of courts, is in every way worthy. A lifelong resident of the county, energetic, capable, trustworthy, a fine penman, he would fill the office of clerk of courts with credit to himself and friends. He is the rate clerk in the Erie freight office, where he has been employed for fourteen years.

For prosecuting attorney, Lloyd P. DeGolley is the nominee—and he's a good one. One of the best evidences of esteem in which the young attorney is held in his party, as well as an evidence of his ability as a hustler, is the manner in which he distanced the field in the primary race for a place on the ticket. The Star has reason to believe that the high esteem in which Lloyd DeGolley is held is not limited to his own party, and looks to him to make one of the finest races on the ticket. He is worthy in all ways.

Another of the attractive offerings on the ticket is J. J. Francis, the market gardener of Marion township. "Peddler John," as somebody has referred to him, is making the race for sheriff in a manner and after a style peculiarly his own. If there is a resident of Marion county, who doesn't know that John Francis is a candidate for sheriff, it is no fault of John's. Incidentally, it may be said that there is no such resident within the confines of the county. That his campaign is an effective one is made evident by good reports from all parts of the county. John Francis' merit as a candidate is beyond question. His popularity is not limited to any party or class. He would make a good sheriff.

There can be no question that Jay Spaulding, who seeks reelection to a second term, is one of the finest auditors—yes, one of the finest officials—in the entire history of Marion county. This fact is recognized by all citizens, regardless of party lines. His record speaks for him. It is a singularly good one. A splendid fellow, a fine citizen, a thorough, painstaking, capable official, he is worthy and should receive the recognition and support which his first term in office merits.

For treasurer, the Republican party of Marion county offers Dr. John G. Selter, whose long practice of medicine in the county and recent incumbency of the office of mayor of the city of Marion have make known to all. Dr. Selter surprised the party dopesters in the party primary, and is making a like energetic campaign for success in the final of November 5.

Three farmers are the nominees for the three commissionerships to be filled, although one of them, J. R. Merchant, better known throughout the county as Ray Merchant, is technically a resident of Marion. The other two are J. C. Messenger, of Claridon, and L. M. Thompson, of Green Camp township. All of them are good, strong men, will qualified to administer the duties of the important office to which they seek election.

Lewis R. Brady, candidate for county recorder, came from Big Island township originally, but is now employed in the Gem pharmacy in West Marion. Lewis Brady would make a fine recorder. He is a fine penman, quick yet careful, courteous at all times, and, incidentally, some artist as a hustler. His campaign is and will continue to be well worth watching.

For the race for surveyor, Pearl R. Mears is the entry. A civil engineer by education and occupation alike, Pearl Mears seeks the support of the citizens of Marion county on merit. He is most worthy in all ways, and merits the consideration of the voter. One is glad to say a word for Pearl Mears.

These are the nominees who make up the Republican county ticket. It is one of which any party may be proud—easily the peer of any which has ever been placed in nomination in the county history of the party. The Star, as previously stated, is glad to commend it to the consideration of the voters of Marion county.

Let us look upon the bright side of the thing. Even should Colonel Roosevelt be elected, he might not make George Perkins prime minister. He might send him to the court of St. James or some other embassy.

If the campaign managers are onto their jobs, and it is manifest that they are, we should have absolute proof by Monday, at least, that three distinguished gentlemen have been as good as elected president of the United States.

Possibly another reason the Balkan war did not attract general attention sooner is that the fellows over in the Balkans had cried "Wolf!" so many times before.

When we learn that Messrs. Morgan and Perkins, without putting up a dollar, were awarded $13,000,000 worth of Harvester trust stock as fees for promoting that combine, and that that modest allotment has appreciated to about $60,000,000, we look upon Mr. Perkins less as a political spendthrift and more as a piker and ingrate—for his comparatively niggardly contribution of a half million dollars to the campaigns of his friend and benefactor, Mr. Roosevelt.

Washington society women are carrying long canes as accessories or adjuncts to the street toilet. We had supposed that crutches would be more useful in connection with the one-legged skirt, but we realize that utility does not figure in the scheme of fashion.

"However, 'let well enough alone' is not the advice Wall street accepts for itself," says the Cleveland Leader. We should say not! Were Wall street following that advice it wouldn't be lined up so solidly behind the Colonel.

ROOSEVELT CAUSE WANING.

Like many so-called Republicans, Editor Grant Copeland, of the La Rue News, was a Roosevelt enthusiast during the campaign preliminary to the Chicago Republican convention, but, unlike many so-called Republicans of that period, he was a Republican by principle and hence refuses to be a party to a campaign of revenge, carried on by bolters, after all prospects of success have gone glimmering, in the vain hope of wrecking the party they have been unable to dominate.

In this week's issue of the News, Editor Copeland defines his position beyond all uncertainty, and utters certain truths which are worthy of reproduction. He says:

"It is apparent at this stage of the political campaign that Roosevelt's Progressive party will fail of election almost everywhere in November. In other words, the Bull Moose organization has no chance to win in the great states of the nation, where success must be realized to cause the third party to establish itself as a great national organization. The Roosevelt sentiment in many of the western states is rapidly receding, and in the Middle West is losing by leaps and bounds. In the eastern states its strength is waning just at a period of the campaign when it should be gaining new recruits each day. It appears reasonable to believe that the Roosevelt party's earnest desire is to defeat President Taft for reelection, and now that Roosevelt sees the fruitlessness of his efforts to gain the presidency for another term, his sole purpose of remaining in the race is to encompass the defeat of the Republican party in every state of the union. Roosevelt has disappointed thousands of loyal friends, who stood steadfast for his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the presidency. Every office he has had since he entered public life was given him by the Republican party, the very party he now desires to defeat by his third-party movement. He has had third-party state tickets nominated in states whenever the nominees on the Republican state ticket refused to follow his advice and come out openly in favor of his candidacy for the presidency. Wherever and whenever he has failed to constitute the ruling spirit, he has showed anger, and then sought to destroy, in a great many instances, the very people who had been his lifelong friends. Verily, the Roosevelt of today is not the Roosevelt of last spring, and when the ballots have been counted in November, it will be seen that his third-party organization is forever crushed out of existence, and that his attempt to ruin the great political party that has honored him so highly in the past will long be remembered as the most brutal and stupendous crime ever committed by a great political leader during the last century of American history."

A TRIBUTE TO GENERAL BROWN.

General Brown is, by long odds, the best-equipped of the candidates for governor. As a lad of nineteen he was one of the heroes, who climbed the heights of Missionary ridge, musket in hand. He was undismayed then, and by his cool bravery won the thanks of the congress of his country. Since those days he has been a leader in civic affairs, a student of life's problems, a successful business administrator, a forceful and influential teacher, writer, preacher, a just and generous employer of labor, a staunch friend and counsellor, a useful, God-fearing, self-respecting man. He is young enough to be responsive to new ideas, old enough to be cautious and sane. No one has ever succeeded in frightening him, and no one has ever been able to "boss" him or overrule his sturdy sense of right. He knows the state and its needs thoroughly, and he would administer its affairs wisely, efficiently and with absolutely integrity. He never whines, nor begs, nor invents false issues. General Brown has worked hard all his days. He believes in hard work. He never sympathizes with a man because he has to work; he does not believe in any millennium which will abolish work. He does not advocate some patent process of "uplifting the working man out of the treadmill of labor." What he believes the laboring man wants is plenty of work under healthful conditions at compensation which will enable him to provide for himself and family all the necessities and a fair share of the luxuries of life and a chance to develope his possibilities and individual talents. He has no patience with the loafer, rich or poor, or with the demagog and sham reformer. He is a man.

"LEST WE FORGET."

If you have forgotten the days of 1893-7, when we had another Wilson framing tariff laws, go over to the courthouse and look at the bound files of the newspapers of those years which you will find in the auditor's office. Take the news columns and mark the shutting down of factories, the closing of mills, the failures of banking institutions. Turn to the court column and note the mortgage foreclosures. Turn to the advertising columns, and note the prevalence of "situation wanted" ads. to "help wanted." Note the number of houses "for rent" and "for sale," and the few who wanted homes. And yet the country was at peace; the crops were generally up to the average, the same sturdy citizenship was here, the same incentive to enterprise and thrift. Mr. Cleveland, the president, was an able and honest man. In view of these conditions, do you believe that the tariff policy has nothing to do with our prosperity? For, mark you, as soon as William McKinley, the apostle of protection, was elected, the whole atmosphere changed. Hope succeeded despair, confidence took the place of distrust and we closed the soup-houses and opened the mills and factories.

The Hillsboro Dispatch has been searching its own files. In 1895 it finds that:

"The sheriff was the busiest man in Highland county. The facts from his records are appalling. From 1893 to 1897 he sold 224 farms and homes, served 531 executions, closed the following large industries: The Ohio Chair company; the Hillsboro Manufacturing company; the Hillsboro Gas company; the Hillsboro Woolen mills; the Citizens' National bank; the First National bank. A bankrupt community is a bad market."

It is just as well to refresh your memory, Mr. Wilson and his party are offering today nothing that the same party did not offer in 1892. Can they show any different result.

The greatest humorist developed during the campaign is Senator Dixon, of Montana, the Bull Moose campaign manager. He recently made reference to the "silent Progressive vote."

THE TARIFF AND COST OF LIVING.

The tariff has nothing whatever to do with the high cost of living, unless you include diamonds, French wines, etc, in your list of necessities. According to the data gathered by the United States labor bureau, commodities cost less in protected America than in free trade Great Britain. Take the following comparison of wholesale prices of staple commodities in the two countries, shown in bulletin 90:

	United States.	England.
Fresh beef, per 100 lbs ..	$10.37	$11.75
Bacon, per 100 lbs	12.91	16.00
Mutton, per 100 lbs	10.05	12.00
Wheat, per 10 bu.	10.97	12.10
Corn, per 10 bu.	5.81	8.30
Wheat Flour, per bbl. ..	4.69	4.90

What has the tariff to do with these prices? Every article here mentioned is produced in this country.

The increased cost of living applies to every country. In the United States where work is plenty and well paid, we are better able to meet the increased cost than in many less-favored lands. There are many causes for the increase, chief of which are three. First, the universal demand for a higher standard of living; second, the decrease in ratio of production as compared with increase of population; third, the decreased purchasing power of money based upon the gold standard because of the increased production of gold.

In the last twenty years, the population of the United States has increased 46.9 per cent., while the production of cattle has increased only 14.4 per cent.; sheep, 28.5; hogs, 29.6; wool, 11.8; wheat only, 1.6; and corn, 22.9.

Will change in our tariff policy throwing our markets and farms open to the competition of the world stimulate production to keep pace with population increase? Certainly not. But it will cause unrest and depression and bring about suspension of industries in many lines.

Despite all the outcry against the Payne-Aldrich tariff law—and we do not hold it to be incapable of improvement—it has justified itself in operation. The country has prospered under it and it has, with the aid of departmental reforms converted Roosevelt deficits into Taft surpluses. It has been in force since 1909, and, notwithstanding what its enemies said about it when it was enacted, and what they now repeat mendaciously, it proved to have been a definite and important downward revision. The department of commerce and labor, under date of July 12, of this year reports that under this new law 51.2 per cent. of all imports came in duty free and that the reduction of duty on all imports under the new law amounted to twenty-one per cent.

It is just as well to know these facts before we vote to tear down our present prosperity.

Lincoln said: "I do not know much about the tariff, but I know this much: when we buy manufactured goods abroad we get the goods and the foreigners gets the money. When we buy the manufactured goods at home, we get both the goods and the money."

JAMES H. EYMON FOR PROBATE JUDGE.

The closer one's acquaintance with James H. Eymon, the more is one impressed with his fitness for the probate judgeship. Honest and straightforward, able, possessing that even poise of mind so essential to the adequate filling of a judicial position, he would show to high advantage in the office of probate judge were he not possessed of a legal education. But, in addition to his other qualifications, Jim Eymon is especially fitted for the place in that he is a practicing attorney—a most capable one—splendidly versed in the law.

The Star has long held that the office of probate judge should be filled by a lawyer, and a good one. There are a thousand and one reasons why one possessed of a fine knowledge of legal jurisprudence, all other matters even, should fill it more acceptably to laymen and members of his profession alike, than one not thus equipped. The Star believes that the Republican candidate on the judicial ticket meets every requirement of the place to which he seeks preferment and is glad to recommend his candidacy to the voters of Marion county. We do not know of a man in the entire county better fitted to administer, with fairness and justness, the affairs of the office of probate judge.

COX IS JUST JOSHING.

Mr. Cox says that he is proud of the present state administration. Therein his public declaration does not jibe with his privately expressed views. If Mr. Cox is really proud of the present state administration he is not fitted to be governor, for it has been the most wasteful, extravagant and inefficient that the state has ever known, has been marked by more scandals and graft than any other, while politically it reeks with the excessive use of state patronage and resources to further the ambitions of its chief executive. But Jimmy was "polly-foxing" when he made that statement.

Out in Oregon, a woman begged her women hearers to work for the election of the man with more backbone and less jawbone. Which goes to show that at least one Oregon woman is in favor of Taft.

The Buckeye political doctor, who prescribed Wilson for prosperity, evidently got his bottles mixed.

It was very kind in Walter Brown to offer the Colonel Ohio as a birthday gift. Walter has been a boss so long that he imagines he owns the state. But he will not be able to deliver even the county he lives in, if there is an honest count of the votes cast.

If we get the trend of Senator LaFollette's remarks, even the Colonel has not so greatly sinned that he, the senator, would not forgive him and welcome him back to the progressive cause.

The case of Turkey, also, goes to show what may happen to a country which permits its navy to become obsolete. The Democratic party would have our navy fall into the condition of that of The Porte.

STATEMENT AS TO THE VALUATION INCREASES

Figures of Special Interest to the Taxpayers.

WHAT PUBLIC SERVICE CORPORATIONS PAY

The Corporations Will Pay About One-Half the Personal Property Tax Instead of Two-Sevenths—A Remarkable Increase Is Made Under the Smith Law.

Wednesday, County Auditor Jay Spaulding announced a comparative statement of increases in the valuation of public service corporations and personal property in Marion county from 1910 to 1912. The figures are of particular interest because they show that the public service corporations, which, two years ago, paid only about two-sevenths of the personal property tax, will now pay approximately one-half of it, the total personal property duplicate, being, in round numbers, $19,500,000.

Auditor Spaulding regards as unusual this increase, under the Smith law, and says the public service corporations are now paying their just proportion of the personal property tax.

In 1910, Marion county's railway corporations were paying on a valuation of $2,000,254. In 1911, they paid on a valuation of $7,942,520. But for 1912 they must pay on a valuation of $8,614,910, a total increase in the two years of $6,614,656.

The telephone corporations in the county will this year pay on a total valuation of $598,400, which is an increase over their valuation of 1910 of $441,869. In 1910 the telephone corporations paid on a personal property valuation of only $146,531. In 1911 they paid on a valuation of $402,030, and this year they were boosted to more than the half-million mark.

The Marion Water company's personal property valuation has been boosted just $198,040 since 1910. In that year the water company paid only on a valuation of $52,440. In 1911 it paid on a valuation of $240,000, and this year it will pay on a valuation of $250,480.

The Marion Gas company, which paid taxes on a personal property valuation of $29,370 in 1910, will this year pay on a valuation of $359,310, an increase of $329,940.

The Logan Gas & Fuel company and the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company, both of which have extensive pipe lines running through the county, have been given material increases in their personal property valuations.

In 1910, the Logan Gas & Fuel company paid taxes on only a valuation of $11,250, while for 1912 it will pay on a valuation of $72,940, an increase since 1910 of $62,690. Last year it paid on a valuation of $60,660.

In 1910, the Northwestern Ohio Natural Gas company paid on a valuation of $71,550. Last year it paid on a valuation of $253,220, and this year it will pay on a valuation of $291,160, an increase since 1910 of $219,610.

In other words, the public service corporations will this year pay taxes on a total personal property valuation of $9,587,200, which is just $7,274,805 more than they paid two years ago, when their total valuation was only $2,311,395.

The former low valuations of the public service corporations have been boosted to a point where they pay, taxing officials say, in proportion to other personal property taxpayers. In 1910, personal property taxpayers, aside from the public service corporations, paid on a total valuation of $5,061,435. This year they will pay on a total valuation of $10,072,450, an increase of $5,011,015 over 1910.

JOINED IN MARRIAGE AT PASTOR'S HOME

Miss Nellie I. Robinson and Mr. Frederick Beck.

Miss Nellie I. Robinson and Mr. Frederick A. Beck were united in marriage by Rev. H. Livingston at his home on Silver street, Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. They were unattended.

Mrs. Beck is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Robinson, of Lincoln avenue, and a young lady of a pleasing personality. Up until her marriage, she was employed at the J. C. Anthony laundry.

Mr. Beck is a son of Mrs. Anna Beck, of Fountain street, and is an employe of the Marion Steam Shovel company.

The young people will make their home for the present with the groom's mother.

SEEKING A DIVORCE IN RICHLAND COUNTY

William C. McCandlish Marries Quite Young.

William C. McCandlish, who is employed in Marion, but claims his residence in Mansfield, has brought suit for divorce in the Richland county court of common please against Lulu B. McCandlish. In his petition, the plaintiff avers that he was married to the defendant, May 12, 1911, in Fairfield county, when he was only twenty years old. He declares he separated from his wife May 14, last, and that he has not lived with her since.

FINDLAY REPUBLICAN PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE

To the Sterling Worth of Judge George Schroth.

George Schroth, the Republican candidate for judge of the appellate court in this district, says the Findlay Republican, is well-known both personally and professionally throughout this district, and he should have the unqualified support of every voter who wishes to have a man of recognized ability on that bench. The recnt election advaneed this court to one of great importance in that it made it the court of final resort in all but certain cases. It is therefore important that a man of judicial experience and personal integrity should be elected to that office, and in Judge Schroth the people have a candidate which embodies both these qualifications. His record on the common pleas bench recommends him for the higher office and since the latter requires a man of exceptional discrimination under the new constitutional amendment the people of the district should concentrate their efforts toward electing a man who can measure up in every respect to the requirements, and no man on the entire ticket comes nearer that than Judge Schroth.

MT. GILEAD MAN IN IMPORTANT POSITION

SMITH HAS UNUSUAL EXECUTIVE ABILITY

Will Be the President and General Manager of a $9,000,000 Corporation—The Capital for the Investment Is Furnished Largely by Business Men of Dayton.

Mayor Dwight E. Smith, of Mt. Gilead, a member of Marion Commandery, No. 36, Knights Templars, Marion Council, No. 22, Royal and Select Masters and Marion Lodge, No. 32, B. P. O. Elks, will resign as mayor of Mt. Gilead, to become the president and general manager of the United Men's Wear Company of America, capitalized at $9,000,000, which will operate a chain of men's furnishing stores throughout the United States.

In addition to owning the stores, the corporation will own the factories manufacturing every article sold in them save gloves and hats. The capital for the big investment is furnished for the most part by Dayton business men.

Mayor Smith was selected as president and general manager because his business ability was recognized as being above the average. He is a young man of original ideas and with the force and determination to carry into effect that which he undertakes.

Mr. Smith, who is a Republican, will be succeeded as mayor by Dr. C. Jensen, a Republican, president of the Mt. Gilead council. Mr. and Mrs. Smith expect to move from Mt. Gilead about November 10.

MARION FRIENDS ARE GIVEN A SURPRISE

Miss Atkinson and Mr. John G. DeWees Wed.

The many friends of Miss Mamie Atkinson and Mr. John G. DeWees will be surprised to learn of their marriage which was celebrated, October 21 in Detroit. The plan of being married secretly was adopted on account of the illness and nervous condition of the groom's mother. The ceremony was performed by the pastor of the Epworth M. E. church.

The groom is very well known in Marion, being the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. DeWees. He is a partner in the Princess theater, on west Center street. The bride came to Marion last April from Gallia county, and has been employed as a ticket-seller at the theater. She is very popular in her home town, and during her short residence in Marion has made many friends. After a trip to the bride's home, they will return and make their home in Marion.

POLICE COURT.

The grocery store of E. L. McKinley, at the corner of Fairground and State streets, was entered by burglars, Tuesday night, and about $20 worth of merchandise taken by the thieves. Entrance to the store was gained by breaking the glass of a rear window. A basket filled for delivery was taken, and when a hasty invoice was made by the proprietor, next morning, it was found that candy, butter, cheese, chewing gum, tobacco, cigars, canned goods and a cheese knife were missing.

The burglary was reported to the police, Wednesday, and some time later Edward Berry and James Monroe, who have been camping in the woods west of Lincoln park, were arrested on suspicion and an investigation is being made.

The police received a call, Tuesday night, that the grocery of J. S. Styer, at the corner of Leader and Silver streets had been entered by burglars. Officers McColly and Slagle responded to the call and found the proprietor in the store. He stated that nothing had been taken, and that the call was due to a side window being found broken. The window was probably broken by fellows celebrating Halloween.

Whenever one sees his wife, daughter or sweetheart hiding something, upon which she has been working, away from him when he approaches, it may be taken as pretty fair notice to him to look for one of those knitted neckties at Christmas time.

Colonel Bryan is planning a $100,000 residence for his Texas farm. With all due respect to the colonel, and without begrudging him his success in wordly matters, we wish to point out that, at times, there is good money in advocating the cause of the "plain peepul."

There's no denying that there's an incongruous aspect to the news item to the effect that William Lote, of Dayton, has been sued by his wife for non-support.

If the Filipinos are half so sensitive as has been generally held out in print, we needn't be surprise to wake up any old morning and learn that a rebellion had broken out in the Philippines. Dr Schurman has been comparing them with the Hondurans.

In his work, called the "Wilderness Hunter," Colonel Roosevelt wrote: "Another noticeable characteristic of the bull moose is his inordinate and unchangeable selfishness. * * * Whether roaming the woods in solitude or tearing up the earth, or coming headlong to the call, he is thinking first, last and all the time, of his own skin and the fullness of his own stomach." And so he chose, with perfect appropriatenss, the name of his new party. Look over the list from the chief down to the little local fellows, and see how marvelously the designation fits.

The only vital issue which divides the parties is the tariff policy. All other matters are merely detail and suggestions, not matters of real party policy. The Republican party stands for the protective tariff policy, and the maintenance of the American standard of living and wages. The Democratic party stands for tariffs levied without discrimination, but simply to provide revenue. Under the former policy, we have prospered and are prospering Under the latter policy, we have suffered. Hold fast to that which is good and which is approved of experience.

While President Taft is not making any political speeches, it may be noted that he is writing a letter occasionally, which is decidely more convincing than three-fourths the speeches which get into print.

The apparent trouble down in Mexico is that the insurrectos would rather take a chance at being shot than go to work.

Some University of Illinois students recently showered a lot of chorus girls with bricks. And still there are some who will persevere in their attempts to belittle the advantages of higher education

Mr. Roosevelt endorsed Mr. Taft in 1908 after seven years of the closest association with him. After Mr. Taft had been in office as president two years. Mr. Roosevelt again gave him unstinted approval. Was he right then, when he had no personal ambition at stake, or is he right now in assailing him, when Mr. Taft stands in the way of his soaring ambition?

It is evident that Colonel Bryan doesn't propose to let his party overlook the fact that its platform declares for one term.

Of course, Mr. Garford, after his defeat next Tuesday, will persevere in his campaign for the betterment of the laboring men, women and children of the state. Nit.

There is something wrong about the fellow who insists upon retaining membership on a Republican committee while supporting a party which antagonizes that organization at the polls. He is not a Republican, could not qualify to vote at a Republican primary and has no business to sit in the councils of a party he is seeking to betray.

The way Governor Wilson holds onto his job might be taken to indicate that he somewhat discounts the claims of his managers that his election is sure

The Turkish treasury has been depleted by a long war and the early successes at arms have been almost wholly with the allies. Still it may be the part of wisdom for the people of the Balkans to win before the fight grows old. There's no telling what the Turk may be able to do when he is thoroughly awakened.

There must be times when President Madero, of Mexico, feels some regret that he didn't start out as a book agent, or something along that line.

Remember the name, James H. Eymon. He's the Republican candidate for probate judge.

The Bull Moose idea of progressiveness appears to be to "soap" the track of the only party which has shown any real progression in the last three decades.

It is more than probable that the ex-sultan of Turkey looks upon it as a case of retribution.

What kind of a circulating medium for the next four years are you going to vote for—cash or clearing-house certificates?

Uncle Jud" Harmon's political boom cost Mr. Ryan $77,000, but that isn't a marker to what "Uncle Jud" has cost the people of Ohio.

We are told that the Bull Moose campaign is in the interests of the people, and financed by the people We wouldn't for a minute question that fact that it is in the interests of the people to financed it.

Against a record of 5,541,794,000 bushels, the estimate of the corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flax, rice and potato crops for 1912 is 5,885,566,000 bushels, valued at $5,000,000,000 A $5,000,000,000 crop estimate makes a noise a lot like prosperity.

CAMPAIGN OF SELFISHNESS

The entire Roosevelt party campaign has been based solely upon selfishness, false pretense, envy and spite. This statement can not be controverted. Other parties have formed in the past, but they have been formed by the supporters of some concrete idea, of some definite reform. Having formulated the platform of principles, they have nominated candidates in accord with it, and carried their cause to the people. But the "Progressive" party, so-called, which prefers to be known by the name of a perfectly useless wild animal, was a unique departure from the rule.

It was a concentration of all the forces of failure and discontent, of disappointed office-seekers and men who had exhausted the generosity of charity of their party and could not get office under any other, of politicians who could not control presidential patronage, of indicted money kings, and discredited political bosses, with a small element of sincere, but misguided, people, who regard change as progress, denunciation as courage, and mere noise and bluster as statesmanship.

They rallied about the personality of the most self-seeking politician this country has ever known; the most arbitrary boss the party has ever suffered under; the most dangerous agitator who has ever threatened the perpetuity of the government.

They rallied about Theodore Roosevelt, not from love of him, but because he had a following born of happier, worthier years, and because he could bring to them the aid of the millionaire corporations who were under prosecution by the government and which would not trust La Follette, or others, who had been seeking to convert the Republican party to Socialism.

The candidate of the party was named before there was even a hint of a declaration of principles. The Roosevelt delegates to the Republican national convention participated in the making of the Republican national platform. They did not retire or refuse to participate in the work until it came to the nomination of a candidate for president. If Roosevelt had been nominated at that convention, it would have been on the platform upon which Taft stands today. What did they care about principles? What they wanted was the organization and the offices.

Mr. LaFollette declares that Mr. Roosevelt told him that if the Wisconsin senator would help to nominate him he could write every line of the platform. What reason is there to doubt the statement? Four years ago Roosevelt dictated the Republican platform, and he used the patronage of his great office ruthlessly to force his will upon the convention and upon the party. Mr. Taft has kept every pledge made in that platform. Two years ago Mr. Roosevelt, then adhering to his declaration that he would not again seek the presidency, publicly endorsed "our able, brave and upright president."

The Bull Moose platform is a dishonest subterfuge. It is made up of declarations, expressed in platitudes, intended to catch votes. Somebody expressed it when he said that it was like a street car platform, "made to get in on, but not to stand on." It embraces not a departure from the Republican platform, which Theodore Roosevelt ever endorsed or advocated during his many years of dominance in the councils of the Republican party. It contains not one idea that he ever commended to congress when it was his duty to make suggestions to that body. Everything was put in which it was thought would pull a vote to the ticket, whether it had any place in a national platform or not. Just as it endorses the payment of pensions by southern states to confederate soldiers and their dependents, it would have endorsed the theory of infant damnation if it could have been shown that votes could be won on the issue. Who ever opposed or questioned the right of the southern states to pension the gallant who offered their lives in a cause embraced by those states? No one. But the Colonel had boasted that he would split the "Solid South," and so this ambiguous clause was inserted in the hodge-podge, so worded as to hold out hope to the South that the Bull Moose party would, if successful, favor the adding of the confederates to the national pension rolls, and at the same time permit reassurance to the North that the expression meant nothing except a gentle jolly to the survivors of "The Lost Cause."

All the way through, the platform is made up of such demagoguery and false pretense. The state conventions followed suit. There is no question of principle involved in the Roosevelt cause. It is merely a fight of the "outs" to get "in." Mr. Roosevelt would have been for Taft as against any other Republican candidate than himself. He refused to permit his delegates to vote for Hadley, or Cummins, of Borah. Had he been nominated, he would now be preaching party regularity and defending the record of the past four years against the Democratic assaults.

And that proposition is true, clear down the line of his camp followers. Do you doubt where Jimmy Garfield would be if Mr. Taft had continued him in the cabinet? Do you think Walter Brown would be off the reservation, if Mr. Taft had not refused to let him name the federal judges in Northern Ohio? Do you think that Charley Allen would not be a Republican today if he were completing his first term as county auditor instead of having just completed his last term? Did you ever hear of any of these men posing as economic reformers till they got out of office?

Well, their fight is lost. Roosevelt with the millions of the trusts back of him, as they have always been, with the muck-raking magazines and syndicate-owned, trust-directed newspapers at his command, has failed to sweep the country. He and his followers know that they have lost the fight for the offices, and now they only hope to carry their former party down to defeat with them, trusting in the reconstruction following a rout to be received back into the party without punishment.

They seem to be careless of the fact that the defeat of the party means the loss of office to many loyal men, who have borne the battle for many years in county, state and nation; who have rendered faithful, efficient service to the people, and who are in no way involved in their quarrel with Mr. Taft. If it had not been for Roosevelt and the money of the Harvester trust, the Steel trust, the Hannas and their allies, does any one doubt that Ohio would this year elect a Republican state ticket by a substantial majority or that the splendid Republican ticket in Marion county would be assuredly successful?

We have faith to believe that the American people will not, in the face of present prosperous conditions, with the government more efficiently and economically managed than for a generation, commit the folly of turning out the present splendid administration. But if they do, we will find consolation in the thought that the country, thanks to the benificent results of William H Taft's wise and honest administration, is better able than ever to stand four years of Democratic rule, and the country has been spared the serious menace of a government autocratically ruled by the ambitious, intolerant and erratic Roosevelt and the dangerous marauders in his train.

THE PASSING OF SHERMAN.

James Schoolcraft Sherman, vice president of the United States, died Wednesday evening, October 30, 1912, at his home in Utica, New York. That is the brief notice of the passing of one of the republic's most useful public servants. Born in 1855, educated at Hamilton college, Mr. Sherman chose the law as his profession and practiced successfully until his preeminent business abilities caused him to devote all his time to commercial enterprises. He was successful as banker, manufacturer and merchant and accumulated a competence before he entered the public service. He was elected to congress in his native district and for twenty years served in the house of representatives, gaining an influential place among the leaders of that body by intelligent, assiduous attention to his duties. He was a recognized authority upon question of finance, interstate and foreign commerce, transportation and Indian affairs.

As presiding officer of the senate, Mr. Sherman ruled with absolute fairness and tact. Personally, he was the soul of geniality and honor. At his home, he was the leading spirit in every worthy movement, philanthropic, patriotic or civic. His activities were limitless, but he accomplished his manifold purposes quietly, without bluster or boasting or bitterness of spirit.

No soldier ever faced death more bravely or suffered pain more uncomplainingly. In the grip of an insidious disease, knowing that the end could be only death, he faced the morning after a night of pain with cheery spirit and heart undaunted. "Sunny Jim" they called him, because of his genial smile and hearty handclasp, his faith in human nature and his conviction that life does not end all. "Sunny Jim," the name first applied in derision during the heat of a political contest, came to be a term of affectionate regard. No one, who knew him, could fail to be impressed with his capacity, his sincerity and his absolute integrity. An now that he has passed, we are sure that in the Great Book his name, like that of Abou Ben Adhem, will be written high up, in letter of gold, among those who loved their fellowmen.

MR. PERKINS' LACK OF FRANKNESS.

[New York Herald.]

The development of the last few days toward convincing observers that the relation of the harvesting machine to the third term campaign has not been fully appreciated. At first Mr. George W. Perkins appeared merely as the true and loyal friend of the third-term candidate, laboring for the uplift of the human race.

Now it appears from the investigation under way, looking to the dissolution of the Harvester trust, that until recently the entire $140,000,000 of stock in that company was in the hands of a voting trust, consisting of Mr. Perkins, Cyrus H. McCormick and Charles Deering. This agreement, to run for ten years, was formed August 12, 1902, so that Mr. Perkins was at the head of the trust, not only throughout the entire two terms of his candidate for president, but throughout the entire canvass for the nomination and, in fact, until a few weeks ago.

It is also shown that of the six members of the finance committee of the Harvester trust four are also directors of the United States Steel corporation.

Now, no man of common sense is likely to object to any person taking an interest in politics simply because he happens to be connected with two corporations against which the government is proceeding, but why keep it so dark? Why should not Mr. Perkins have made it clear long ago that he was favoring the third-termer and opposing Mr. Taft in his capacity of trust manager, rather than in his capacity of uplifter of working girls and farmers?

It is evident that as the campaign progresses, the clatter of the reaping machine will sound louder and louder, drowning the appeals for eight hours for the working man and a full share of tariff swag for the pay envelope. The harvester has distanced the steam roller.

With one of his trusts holding up the people for $16,000,000 in three years, one might imagine that George Perkins would be content without trying to force a ruler on us.

The Bull Moosers are beginning to question the possible honesty of the count. It is evident that they have read the handwriting on the wall.

Mr. Debs is credited with saying that the greatest calamity that could happen the Socialist cause would be his election. That kind of talk almost leads one to conclude that Mr. Debs contemplates starting a little Bull Moose movement of his own.

Manager Dixon is almost as certain that Colonel Roosevelt will be elected as he was that he would be nominated.

We note that the Harvester trust of that great friend of the plain people, George W. Perkins, made a profit of 463 per cent. in three years, which naturally makes one wonder what would have been the hold-up perpetrated by one whose heart was not overflowing with love for the people.

Senator LaFollette is quoted as saying that he will not vote for Taft, Wilson or Roosevelt. When it comes to the enunciation of a principle, the senator may have the strength of a legion, but in the matter of voting, he is no stronger than the most humble of the citizens of the state he represents, and his vote counts for no more

Boss Bill Flinn is said to have expressed himself as praying for Bull Moose success next Tuesday, which reminds us of the old proverb—"When the pirate prays, there is great danger."

SHERMAN LIES COLD IN DEATH

The vice president's marriage to Miss Carrie Babcock, of East Orange, New Jersey, granddaughter of Colonel Eliakim Sherrill, a noted Whig leader in New York in the days of Henry Clay, took place in 1881. His children are Sherrill, a banker; Richard Hugh, a Hamilton college mathematics professor, and Thomas M., an official in one of his father's companies. All are married and residents of Utica.

Before Sherman's election to the vice presidency, two things in particular had served to make him prominent as a national figure. They were the Roosevelt-Harriman affair and the congressional campaign plan of dollar contributions. In the Harriman matter, President Roosevelt made Sherman the intermediary, addressing to him the famous letter, containing the "shorter and uglier" word. Meanwhile Sherman had come to be widely known as "Dollar Jim. As chairman of congressional campaign committee in 1908, he sent out calls for dollar subscriptions. Afterward he said that these small gifts had practically defrayed expenses.

Influential in Congress.

Sherman was not long in congress before he was recognized as one of the really influential men in the national legislature. From the beginning, he was one of the most popular men in Washington, with a host of personal friends, even among the Democrats. A friend of all the men powerful in his party, his appointments during his eighteen years as congressman were numerous. He was closely allied with Speaker Cannon and once he tried to get the speakership himself when Reed retired. A western combination prevented his election, however. Sherman stood next to Speaker Reed in his grasp of parliamentary law.

When defeated for the speakership, Sherman was offered the position of secretary of the senate, but was compelled to decline because of the urgent request of his townsmen that he continue to represent them in congress. This action of his townsmen occurred a second time, when McKinley offered to make him general appraiser of the port of New York. Mass meetings were held in Utica and great gatherings sent delegates to him to beg him to remain in congress as their representative. So he declined this place also and stayed in congress.

Sherman could have had a number of federal positions, even to a judgeship, but he preferred to remain in congress.

Business Enterprises.

With other business men, Sherman, in 1899, organized the Utica Trust & Deposit company, now one of the leading banks of Central New York, and he became its president. He was also president of the New Hartford Canning company, organized by his father in 1881, and held interest in many other local enterprises.

The personal popularity of Mr. Sherman was universally conceded. At political gatherings and at the Capitol in Washington, he was always surrounded by friends and seemed to radiate good fellowship. All members of the Sherman family attend the Dutch Reformed church, where Mr. Sherman was president of the board of trustees. Beside his membership in the Fort Schuyler club, of Utica, he belonged to the Metropolitan club in Washington and to the Union League, Republican and Transportation clubs in New York.

It was on the committee on Indian affairs that Sherman did his most notable work in the house of Representatives. He held the chairmanship for fourteen years, being at the head of the committee when first nominated for the vice-presidency. He recently stated in reply to an inquiry as to his opinions about the Indians:

Opinions About Indians.

"My opinions are neither strange nor revolutionary. We have treated the Indians fairly. Crimes have often been committed by dishonest white men, but the crimes have often been made easy by the Indians themselves, who have been more than willing to sell $300 worth of property for five dollars worth of whiskey. It is not always possible to prevent fraud when both sides are eager to make the bargain. We have spent $30,000,000 during the last twenty-five years to educate the Indians, and 30,000 of them are now in school. But the educated Indian is not invariably a success. He returns to his tribe expecting to sleep in a bed and wear a nightshirt. His family, however, expects him to lie on the ground in a vermin-infested tepee, and ridicules him when he objects. He may pull his relative up a degree, but, in the meanwhile, he goes back ten degrees himself.

"As to the ultimate fate of the Indian, he will be gradually swallowed up by the white civilization and he will loose his identity entirely."

Next to Senator Curtis. Mr. Sherman took rank as an authority on Indian affairs. It was under his chairmanship of the committee that legislation was enacted for closing up the affairs of the five civilized tribes, including the allotment of the lands, making of rolls of citizens and generally paving the way for the admission of a new state of Oklahoma.

When Sherman's name was presented to the Chicago convention in 1908, his most enthusiastic support came from the western states, where he was known on account of his work lahoma, .dl.eugb cmfw cmfw fwyyy on the Indian Affairs committee. He had the solid vote of Oklahoma, his nomination being seconded by a delegate from that territory. He received the votes of all the territories in the convention. His second nomination is fresh in the minds of readers.

Taft Deeply Affected.

New York, Oct. 31.—President Taft was informed of the death of Vice President Sherman as the chief executive and his secretary of the navy were seated in the Thirteenth Regiment armory, Brooklyn, as guests of honor at a dinner to them by employes of the Brooklyn navy yard, in celebration of the successful launching of the battleship New York.

Mr. Taft at once informed the assemblage, saying:

"Three years ago you met on an occasion like this to celebrate the launching of the Florida and you were honored by the presence of the vice president of the United States—Vice President Sherman. It is a very sad duty for me to announce that word has just come that the vice president is dead.

"Those who knew him loved him. Those who knew the services he rendered to his country respected him. I venture to ask that this assemblage adjourn in honor of his memory and that no further proceedings be taken."

Sherman's Successor.

New York, Oct. 31.—Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the Republican national committee, gave out this statement regarding the vice presidential candidate on the Republican ticket:

"The national convention which met in Chicago in June delegated to the national committee the power to fill vacancies on the national ticket. The death of Mr. Sherman, the candidate of the Republican party for vice president at the coming election, makes it incumbent on the national committee to nominate a candidate in his place. That nomination, however, can not possibly be made prior to the election next Tuesday. Such a nomination can properly be made only after due and reasonable notice to all the members of the committee. Such notice could not be less than six days. It is, therefore, manifestly impossible to hold such a meeting prior to the election.

"Meantime, no difficulty or inconvenience arises to the voters at the election next Tuesday, because the votes to be cast then are for electors and not for candidates for either president or vice president, and the death of Mr. Sherman therefore does not affect the validity of the election of the electors.

"I have called a meeting of the national committee to meet upon the 12th day of November, in the city of Chicago, at the Auditorium hotel, at 12 o'clock noon, to select a successor to the late James S. Sherman as candidate of the Republican party for vice president of the United States."

MARION FRIENDS ARE GIVEN A SURPRISE

Miss Ada K. Park and Rev. Homer E Elliott Married.

The many Marion friends of Rev. Homer E. Elliott will be surprised and pleased to learn of his marriage to Miss Ada K. Park, of near Westerville, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Daly, No. 442 Trevitt street, Columbus, Saturday, October 16. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Kolb.

Wednesday, Rev. Mr. Elliott came to Marion with his bride and went to the home of his mother, Mrs. O. J. Elliott, of Delaware avenue, who did not know her son had been married. The bride is a graduate of North High school in Columbus, and until recently was employed as a teacher at Linden, a suburb of Columbus. She met her husband last spring, when he was in the evangelistic field in Columbus.

The groom is well known in Marion and Marion county, and is a brother of Harry S. Elliott, deputy county treasurer. He is now the pastor of a Methodist circuit at Spencerville, Indiana, where he and his bride will make their home.

REVIVAL SERVICES AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

Evangelistic Meetings Are To Be Opened Soon.

Evangelistic meetings will be begun in the Trinity Baptist church, November 17, under the leadership of the pastor and assisted by the singing evangelist, Rev. Edwin L. Bowyers. These meetings are the result of plans made by the church in the early part of the summer, and promise to be of great interest. Mr. Bowyers, who will have charge of the singing, is a man of great spiritual power, wide experience, and has had great success in this department of work.

The church is also planning to hold a three-weeks campaign the first of January under the leadership of Rev. and Mrs. A. W. Miller, of Indiana.

Purdue Coach Fired.

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 31.—Coach Marquis F. Horr, in charge of Purdue's football squad, has been summarily dismissed by the university authorities for "improper conduct." Horr came from Northwestern university a year ago.

Some of the new purses are made of reindeer skin, lined with moire. They come in vivid olors.

ACCUSED COUPLE TAKEN IN LIMA

said he "guessed" it might have been dragged there after the murder.

Police here have watched the home of Mrs. Joseph Kramer, Conway's mother, since it was first suspected that the man wanted in Chicago and Charles Kramer might be the same person.

Saw Miss Singer Last.

The last person that the Conways saw, according to the tale told at police headquarters here, before they left their hotel in Chicago, was Miss Singer. The girl, they said, gave them $35 and two suits of clothes.

A man named Claude Stillwell, the couple say, had an engagement with Miss Singer for later in the evening. They asserted that Miss Singer had told them that she intended to break off her relations with W. R. Warthen.

The Conways were registered at the Cadillac hotel as Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Crawley, Sidney, Ohio."

The police learned from a cab driver, that a couple answering the description of the pair wanted in Chicago had gone to the hotel. It was later learned that Conway had tried to get in communication with his mother, on the evening of his arrival.

Suspect Lives in Lima.

Chicago, Oct. 31.—The police today declared that Charles D. Conway, wanted with Beatrice Ryall Conway, in connection with the murder of Miss Sophia Singer, rich Baltimore girl, is Charles Newton Kramer, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Kramer, No. 522 west Elm street, Lima, Ohio.

According to Mrs. Kramer, her son left their home two years ago. She told the Lima police they formerly lived in St. Marys, Ohio, and when they moved to Lima the son left home, declaring he did not like Lima.

"We didn't hear from Charlie for a year," said Mrs. Kramer. "Then, ten months ago, he returned. With him came a sweet-looking little woman, whom he introduced as his wife. They were here for a few days.

"My son had a wooden foot. He had met with an accident, he said, while doing a high dive in Detroit and was forced to have an artificial foot made. They left and, save for a letter or two, we have not heard from them since.

"I don't believe and can't believe it was he, not until he tells me himself that my boy has committedmurder."

Conway and his wife were traced to Rochester Ind.. by the police where the trail was lost. They were supposed to have gone from Rochester to Muncie or Tipton, but inquiry at both places failed to reveal them.

Detectives Sent to Lima.

Chicago, Oct 31.—Chief of Detectives Halpin today received a telegram from Chief of Police Marion Vermillion, at Lima, Ohio, telling of the arrest of Charles D. Conway, known also as Charles N. Kramer, and Mrs. Conway, known as Beatrice Ryall.

Halpin at once communicated with detectives who had been searching the cities and towns near Rochester, Indiana, for the missing pair.

The detectives were ordered to leave at once for Lima to bring the suspects to Chicago. The Conways, according to Vermillion's telegram, agreed to come without extradition.

DR. WALTER A. KING ELECTED PRESIDENT

MARION SELECTED FOR NEXT BAPTIST MEETING

At Gathering Held in Columbus, 500 Baptist Ministers and Laymen Are in Attendance—A Big Fund To Help Weak Churches Established. Other Business.

Marion was doubly honored by the Ohio Baptists assembled in Columbus, Thursday. Not only was Dr. Walter A. King, of this city, elected president of the Baptist brotherhood, but Marion was selected for the big gathering of the Baptists the third week in October of next year.

In detailing the proceedings of the gathering, the Ohio State Journal of October 25 says:

"I have been attending Baptist conventions for ten years, but the meeting which just ended was by far the most successful one in the history of the Ohio Baptist association," asserted Rev. Herbert F. Stillwell, of Cleveland, re-elected president of the association.

This remark was made at the closing session yesterday of the eighty-seventh annual convention of the association at the Tenth Avenue Baptist church.

According to Rev. A. E. Isaac, chairman of the entertainment committee, there were 500 Baptist ministers and laymen in attendance.

The Baptists, next year, will meet at Marion, the third week in October.

A fund of $10,000 with which to help weak churches and to aid in the erection of new ones was established. Rev. George E. Leonard formerly had charge of the erection of new edifices in Ohio, but he resigned yesterday, and Rev. C. J. Rose, of Granville, was elected to take his place. According to Rev. Dr. Stillwell, greater efforts will be made during the ensuing year to strengthen rural churches and to build new ones.

The state council of the Baptist brotherhood reorganized by electing Rev. W. A. King, of Marion, president, and David E. Green, of Cleveland, secretary.

Messages of sympathy and hopes for early recovery were sent to C. T. Lewis, of Toledo, and B. J. Loomis, of Columbus, who were unable to attend the convention on account of illness.

At the session yesterday morning, Dr. E. Y. Mullins, of Louisville, president of the Southern Baptist Theological seminary, delivered an address on "The Supremacy of the Pastorate." Rev. E. T. Tomlinson, of New Jersey, secretary of the ministers' and missionaries' benefit fund, talked about his work in the afternoon. A number of ministers gave ten-minute talks.

NEW LAW PROPOSED FOR ROADS IN OHIO

Friends of Movement To Carry Fight to Legislature.

Friends of the good road movement in Ohio who were defeated when the $50,000,000 bond issue failed at the constitutional amendment election are preparing to renew their fight and will carry it before the next legislature.

The new proposition, however, is different from the one defeated at the election. Under the bond issue plan, counties that already had built good roads would have to pay for building roads in counties that had none.

Under the new plan, the counties will pay only for the building of their own roads.

The proposed law contemplates appropriation by each county of one-half of one mill to be used in construction and maintenance of roads. The plan is to have this money spent on intercounty roads, first allowing the amounts now being appropriated for roads to be spent on lateral highways.

By this plan, each county with the one-half of one mill appropriation would build that portion of an intercounty road within its own territory up to the county line.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF AN ENGAGEMENT

Miss Lolo Murphy To Marry Mr. George Valentine.

A Halloween party was given at the home of Miss Margaret Dripps, of south Prospect street, Thursday evening, at which the hostess announced the engagement of Miss Lola Murphy, of this city, to Mr. George Valentine, of El Paso, Texas. The young people are to be married Thanksgiving day.

A delightful evening was spent. Those present were Mr. Raymond Stevenson, of Forest; Mr. George Valentine, of El Paso, Texas; Rev. and Mrs. C. A. Pearce, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Haskel Siders, Miss Adda Vish, Miss Birdie Dripps, Miss Imo Fate, Miss Lillian McCollister, Miss Geneva Bishop, Miss Lola Murphy, Miss Lillian Thomas, Miss Elsie Fate, Mr. L. Pearce, Mr. Charles Rinehart, Mr. William Rinehart, Mr. Guy Shambaugh, Mr. Frank Collins, Mr. Otto Barts, Mr. Harold Murphy, Mr. William Reber, Mr. Glen Acne, Mr. Burgess Anthony, Mr. Harry Knight and Mr. Albert Dripps.

AUTO IS DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT SATURDAY

An Effort To Avoid a Collision Results Fortunately.

Lloyd H. Cahill, of Sharp street, accompanied in his automobile by Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Cullender and their three children, who also reside in West Marion, had a narrow escape from a serious automobile accident at the corner of State and Columbia streets about 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning.

Cahill was driving east on Columbia street. When he reached State street, a touring car was approaching from the south at a fast rate of speed. Believing that the cars were going to meet broadside or that the other machine would collide with his own, to prevent any injury to the other occupants of his car, Cahill took a chance on partially turning towards the north and went over the curb in front of the residence of Mrs. E. S. Bull.

The other machine was brought to a stop a few feet back of Cahill's auto. Fortunately, none of the passengers of either car was injured, but the automobile of Cahill was badly damaged. The fenders, two front wheels and the front axle were badly bent. The other machine was not damaged and the driver continued on his journey. Cahill secured the number of the car, which was from Ashland, but he refused to reveal the number.

NUMBER OF GREEKS RETURN FOR THE WAR

GOVERNMENT PAYS THEIR TRANSPORTATION

A Number of Greeks Are Already on Their Way To Fight Against the Turks—Naturalized Citizens Are Not Subject to the Call to Arms and Are Not Departing.

Quitting their work in this city, Gus Tentders, Philip and Frank Theofiles, George Leggeris, Sporr Vasilaikis and Gus Foradas, Greeks, left for their native land to engage in the war against Turkey. Their transportation over and back will be paid by their government, it was announced by them Friday. They departed this week.

A number of Greeks employed by the Erie Railroad company departed for the scene of war early last week.

Friday, when interviewed, the Greeks wanted to know why their departure should be published. One of them declared at first that they would not dare to divulge identities of those going home. "Kill, kill," he murmured, holding his hand, dagger-like above his breast.

Asked if he meant that he might be killed if he disclosed the identities of those going to the seat of war, the young Greek nodded his head affirmatively. After counseling together, however, the Greeks decided to give their names.

None of the Greeks who have become naturalized are returning for the war. Friday, one of the Elias brothers said he was a naturalized citizen of the United States, and he was not subject to the call. All Greeks, who are not naturalized must obey the call to arms, he said.

LINCOLN BUILDING WILL BE IMPROVED

A Two-Room Annex Is To Be Constructed.

WILL TAKE CARE OF PRESENT SITUATION

It Will Not Be Necessary for the County Commissioners To Take Action in Matter as the School Board Is Working To End Its Own Troubles.

Members of the school board have assured the county commissioners that it will not be necessary for them to take any action with regard to the complaint made by a number of school patrons, through Attorney James H. Eymon.

The commissioners have been informed that the school board members have practically agreed upon the construction of a two-room annex at the Lincoln building. This will solve the situation, as a two-room annex is already being built at the Davids Street building to take care of the situation there.

The Lincoln building, it is pointed out, is the only schoolhouse in the entire southern part of the city, and this building contains only six rooms. By building a two-room annex at this building, it is claimed that the situation will be well taken care of, inasmuch as the patrons at the Greenwood and Forest Lawn buildings are now attending full-day sessions.

If something is not done by the school board to relieve the situation, it can be said with authority that the board of county commissioners will take sweeping action.

CARL PHILIP RIED IS KILLED ON THE ERIE

Marion Young Man Meets Death Near North Lewisburg.

BRAKEMAN STRUCK WHILE ON FLAG DUTY

Head Is Crushed and a Hand and Foot Severed—Remains Will Be Brought Here and Taken to Home of Parents This Evening—A Deplorable Tragedy.

Carl Philip Ried, aged twenty-one years, six months and seventeen days, son of Mr and Mrs. Henry Ried, No. 350 north Greenwood street, and employed by the Erie railroad company as an extra freight brakeman, was killed by his own train, local No. 38, near North Lewisburg, Champaign county, Thursday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock. Reid was sent back to flag a work train and is believed to have sat down on the track and gone to sleep.

The accident occurred in Allen township, Union county, a short distance east of North Lewisburg. Ried's train stopped near the farm of Levi Snuffin and he was sent to flag the work train from this point.

The Marion man was badly mangled. His head was crushed and his left hand and foot were severed. Death was instantaneous.

The dead man was taken to the undertaking establishment of M. F. Freeman at North Lewisburg. In his pocket was found a railroader's insurance card directing that Mrs. Henry Ried, his mother, be notified in case of accident. His clothing contained a watch, a small amount of money and some keys.

The body arrived here Friday evening. The North Lewisburg undertaker refused to ship it without the coroner first viewing it. The coroner lives at Richwood and he was in Columbus, Thursday.

Young Ried had been employed by the Erie only six weeks. He was employed by the Marion Steam Shovel company before accepting employment with the Erie as an extra brakeman. Three weeks ago he figured in a smashup at the Greenwood street crossing, but escaped uninjured.

Henry Ried, a brother, was the first of the family to learn of the tragedy. He was called to the telephone from his work two hours after the accident and informed by one of the railroad men. He then went to the home of his parents on Greenwood street and broke the news to his mother.

The young railroader was born and raised in Marion and is quite well known. He was a member of the Order of Moose. Besides his parents, he is survived by the following brothers and sisters:

Mrs. Herbert T. Ireland, of Santa Barbara, California; Mrs. John Brady, Mrs. Harry Huffman, Miss Frieda Ried, Fred and Henry Ried. The deceased was a member of Calvary Evangelical church.

CHANGES MIND AND MARRIES ANOTHER

Result of Miss Bombarger Being Held in Quarantine.

During the smallpox scare in Marion a year and a half ago, Miss Hazel G. Bombarger, of Morrow county, came here to visit her sister, Mrs. F. E. Dennis, who lives on Chicago avenue. Her sister was not at home and going to a neighbor's to make inquiry she exposed herself to smallpox, and was placed in quarantine. She came here on Friday and was to have been married the following Sunday to a man named Garman in Cleveland. After being held several days, Miss Bombarger was released. She then changed her mind about marrying Garman, and broke off the engagement. Last Saturday a week ago, she was married to another, Paul C. Van Sickel, a farmer, at the M. E. church parsonage at Marengo, Rev. F. A. Gilmore performing the ceremony.

YOUNG PEOPLE ARE JOINED IN MARRIAGE

Miss Hazel Estlack and Mr. Jesse L. Garver.

Miss Hazel Marie Estlack and Mr. Jesse Louis Garver were united in marriage by Rev. G. M. Rourke at the First Presbyterian parsonage, Sunday morning at 8 o'clock.

The young people will reside in this city. The bride is a daughter of Mr and Mrs. George Estlack, of Girard avenue, and has been employed as an operator by the Marion County Telephone company. Mr. Garver is an employe of the Erie railway company.

O. H. NEIMEYER'S DOGS WIN IN THE CONTESTS

Prospect Dog Fancier Is Very Much Pleased.

O. H. Neimeyer, the Prospect dog fancier, reports some very gratifying results as the result of his entries in the annual dog show of the Pennsylvania Field Trial club, of Carmichaels, Pennsylvania, held last week, October 23 to 24 inclusive. Against fifty-two entries from all over the world, "Bessie Kirk," a pointer, won the "All Age" stake in the field trial and first in the bench show, which is considered a very remarkable showing.

"Champion Gleam's Dawn" won the cup in the setters' division. This dog is imported and one of the best in his class in the country. These dogs have made the ninety-eight win for the Neimeyer kennels. Mr. Neimeyer confidently expects to bring the total up to the century mark before the end of the year.

MORE DEMOCRATS THAN REPUBLICANS

Democratic Figures Are Not Found Correct.

SOME MORE FIGURES ON THE REGISTRATION

Louis E. Myers Is Going Over the Registration and Poll Books and Finds That Only About 500 Electors Fail To Register—Most of Them Are Democrats.

Saturday, L. E. Myers, secretary of the Republican executive committee, emphatically denied the statement of Democrats that 1,000 electors in Marion failed to register and that of that number 700 of them are Republicans.

"There's nothing to the claim of the Democrats," Mr. Myers said. "It's just the other way, so far as registering is concerned. I went over the poll books and the registration books, and I find that instead of 1,000 failing to register, only about 500 failed to register, as was first announced from Democratic sources in the Star.

"Of the 500 who failed to register, most of them were Democrats and not Republicans, as has been announced by Democrats. By an inspection of the records, I find that of the 500 who failed to qualify, at least 250 of them were Democrats, seventy of them Socialists and the remainder of them Republicans. That's the exact situation."

Mr. Myers further announced that he was now compiling the figures, and would soon give them to the public. He stated that he had one precinct yet to figure.

CHURCH AND SCHOOL COMBINE FOR RALLY

A Pleasing Program at Salem Evangelical Church.

CHURCH DECORATIONS BEAUTIFUL IN EXTREME

Representatives of Various Classes Appear on the Program—Music and Recitations Enjoyed—Rev. K. A. Roth Gives a Talk on the Work in General.

The annual Rally day was observed at the Salem Evangelical church, Sunday morning, the church and Sunday-school combining for the services. The church was prettily decorated with bunting and plants, and was filled to its capacity. The services were opened with an organ selection which was followed with a song by the congregation and prayer by the pastor. The girls' choir, of twelve voices, sang, a responsive reading following.

After a hymn and a selection by the church quartet, the classes of the primary department taught by Mrs. William Albrecht, Misses Edith Eibling, Caroline Schoechle and Florence Leonhart, were represented by members who gave short recitations. Representatives of the classes of Mrs. Frank Ritzhaupt, Mrs. Addie Schultz and Miss Mina Esterle, of the junior department and of the classes of Mrs. O. Hittenrauch, Mrs. John Schneider and Miss Caroline Kuntz, of the senior department, contributed recitations.

The girls' choir rendered another selection, after which short talks were made by representatives of the various classes. Mr. John Schneider, representing the adult Bible class, gave a reading, and a reading was given by Mr. Andrew Kull, representative of the Nika Bible class. The cradle roll was represented by a baptism, Olivene, the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Frank Guntherman being baptized. Mr. Philip Ebert, president of the Sunday-school, delivered an address on the work of the school. After a selection by the church quartet, Rev. K. A. Roth gave a talk on the work in general and the services closed with a song.

THE ELEVENTH ANNUAL REBEKAH CONVENTION

MUCH BUSINESS IS GIVEN ATTENTION

Mrs. Ada Moyer Delivers an Address of Welcome and Response Is Given by Mrs. Ellen Miller. Reports Received as to Progress of Work—The Officers Selected.

The eleventh annual convention of the thirty-ninth district of the Rebekah lodge was held in the Knights of Pythias hall at Prospect, Friday, October 25.

The afternoon session was opened at 2 o'clock with a piano duet by Misses Maud Wynn and Irene Redd, of Prospect, after which Mrs. Clara Edgington, of Caledonia, pronounced the invocation. The address of welcome was given by Mrs. Ada Moyer, of Prospect, and the response by Mrs. Ellen Miller, of Waldo. Mrs. Edgington then gave a humorous reading, after which the convention went into session.

The regular business coming before the order was transacted and the school of instruction, which pertained only to the order and was very instructive, was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth U. Garver, of Toledo, state president of the Ohio Rebekah assembly. She was assisted by Mrs. Emma M. Bell, of Columbus, the state secretary.

The various lodges of the district gave their reports which were excellent. The Wayside Rose Rebekah lodge of Marion led the list in initiations during the year. A silver collection was taken for the hospital fund of the I. O. O. F. home in Springfield.

Memorial Is Read.

The memorial for those who have died in the district during the past year, was given by Mrs. F. L. Hunter, of Sosnowski lodge, of Marion.

The invitation extended by Sosnowski lodge to meet with them in this city next fall, was accepted.

The nomination of officers was next in order and the following were elected:

Mrs. John Evans, of Marion, president; Mrs. Carrie Dilts, of Caledonia, vice president; Mrs. Sarah Carter, of Marion, secretary, and Mrs. Margaret Bonham, of Marion, treasurer.

The president made the following appointments:

Mrs. Ambrose Baldwin, of Morral, chaplain; Mrs. Margaret Miller, of Marion, conductress; Mrs. Amos Schultz, of Agosta, warden; Mrs. William Fritch, of Prospect, inside guard, and Miss Vinnie Selanders, of Waldo, outside guard.

Officers Installed.

The officers were installed by the state president, Mrs. Garver, after which the convention adjourned and a special session of the assembly opened. The assembly degree was conferred on thirty-four past noble grands.

An elegant supper was served in the banquet hall at the close of the afternoon meeting, 250 being present.

In the evening the Prospect lodge opened the session and the Wayside Rose Rebekah lodge, of Marion, conferred the degrees on three candidates. Their work was excellent. Several talks were given. The Marion people returned home on a late car.

About seventy-five were in attendance from the Marion lodges.

THREE ITALIANS ARE IN THE COUNTY JAIL

Are Charged with Stealing Shoes Valued at $500.

Three Italians, known to the authorities only by the numbers 1501, 1508 and 1513, are confined in the county jail on grand larceny charge. They were arrested, Sunday, by Detective Robert Toussant, of the Erie Railroad company, who claims they are a part of a gang which broke into a boxcar at DeCliff and stole shoes valued at $500. John Doe affidavits charging the men with stealing the shoes were prepared by Crisinger & Guthery, attorneys for the railroad, Monday afternoon.

The Italians, who are charged with the theft, are alleged to have boxed the shoes and attempted to ship them over the same road from which they had stolen them. The boxcar, which was burglarized, had been transferred to the Erie from the Clover Leaf railroad at Ohio City. The Italians are charged with breaking into it and stealing the shoes at DeCliff, October 24.

YOUNG PEOPLE WILL MAKE HOME IN MARION

Miss Charter and Mr. Ora C. Stafford Are Married.

Miss Gladys Charter and Mr. Ora Carl Stafford, who had announced that they would be married Monday, stole a march on their friends and went to Delaware, Sunday evening, where they were married by a Methodist minister. The young people returned to Marion, Sunday night.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Charter, of Chase street, and Mr. Stafford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stafford, of Wilson avenue. He is employed by the C. R. Parish Furniture company.

A marriage license has been issued to Miss Glayds Virginia Charter and Ora Carl Stafford.

MARION FRIENDS ARE GIVEN BIG SURPRISE

Miss Cora M. Fox and Mr. E. M. Pierson Wed.

The many friends in this city of Mr. Edward M. Pierson will be greatly surprised to learn of his marriage at Windsor, Canada, last June. Mr. Pierson, who is a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Pierson, was married, June 28, to Miss Cora Mabel Fox, of Bucyrus, daughter of H. M. Fox, supervisor of the Toledo Division of the T. & O. C. railroad. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Cameron, of the Baptist church of Windsor.

The young people have kept their marriage a secret as they wished to surprise their friends. They will reside for the present on south High street.

Mr. Pierson is engaged in business with his father at the Pierson Oyster company's store.

ARE MARRIED AT BAPTIST PARSONAGE

Miss Ida May Powell and Mr. August C. Kull.

Miss Ida May Powell and Mr. August Carl Kull were married at the Trinity Baptist church on south State stree, Saturday, at 9:30 o'clock. Dr. Walter A. King performed the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Kull will make their future home in Marion.

TWO LOCAL STORES ARE ENTERED BY BURGLARS

Money and Goods Stolen from Morgan Brothers.

ENTRANCE GAINED THROUGH REAR DOOR

Thieves Secure $2.50 in Cash and Property Valued at $55—Enterprise Coal & Feed Company's Store Visited and Damage Done. Local Police Court Items.

The grocery of Morgan brothers on Bennett street, and the office of the Enterprise Coal & Feed company, located on the same street, were entered by burglars at an early hour Saturday morning. Entrance to both places was gained by breaking the glass from the rear doors and then opening the doors.

A big haul was made at the grocery, where the thieves secured $2.50 in change, a case of jewelry consisting of cuff buttons, chains, clasps, pins and fobs, the total value of which was placed at about $55, a ham, one razor, a peck of apples, cigars, tobacco, candy and some other articles. On the counter the fellows left a note saying they had secured the $2.50. They just bid the proprietors goodby and signed the note "Bums."

At the feed store the combination was chiseled off the safe and the safe stripped of its trimmings, but the thieves secured only two pennies, no money having been left in the safe. Probably angered because of the disappointment at this place, a barrel of flour was emptied and flour mixed with charcoal and charcoal mixed with some oats. The interior of the office was very much torn up.

The burglaries were reported to the police, and an investigation is being made. It is believed that the thefts were committed by boys.

AN ITALIAN LABORER KILLED ON THE ERIE

SOME THINK THE MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Fellow Workmen Think He Jumps from Car Without Seeing the Approaching Engine—Much Time Is Required To Remove the Injured Man from Under the Pilot.

Caught beneath the pilot of an Erie railroad engine at DeCliff, Friday afternoon at 4:30, and rolled up like a ball, Rosario Russo, an Italian laborer, twenty-three years old, lived until 7 o'clock next morning. He had a hole in his head, the scalp on the right side was torn off, the right arm was severed below the elbow and he was a mass of cuts and bruises.

For nearly three-quarters of an hour the railroad men worked to extricate the unfortunate foreigner, it being necessary finally to unfasten the pilot and back up the engine.

Erie railroad laborers say that Russo leaped in front of the train from a bunk car. While some advance the theory that he committed suicide, Russo's fellow workmen do not think that he took his own life. Instead, they think he jumped out of the car in front of the engine without having noticed it until too late.

The man was brought to this city on a work train and taken to the Marion City hospital. Following his death Saturday, the body was removed to the undertaking establishment of Hess & Markert.

There will always be plenty of hard work to do—and plenty of people who are easy to work.

Notwithstanding all the arguments that have taken place, few disputed questions have been settled.

NOVEMBER HEAVENS ARE FULL OF INTEREST

Many Shooting Stars To Be Seen Three Nights.

MARS WILL ENTER THE MORNING SKY

The Fluctuations of Capella—The Most Beautiful Constellations of Orion and the Twins Enter the Evening Sky—The Position of the Stars and Planets.

This is the month that the most beautiful constellations of Orion and the Twins both enter our evening sky, and already the eastern part of the heavens begins to present the brilliant appearance which is characteristic of the winter stars If the observer will face due east he will now see the wonderful Taurus with its Hyades and Pleiades, already mounted nearly half way to the zenith to the left of these are the two stars which rank the extreme tips of the Bull's horns of which the pure white star, at A, Figure 1, is a great double sun in almost the same condition as our two Dog Stars, while the second at B is a fainter, yellowish star whose influence in the days of astrology was for some reason believed to be particularly malign It is at the point C a very short distance above and to the left of this star, that there is found the singular

The November Stars

To the right and above the tips of the horns we see the very brilliant Capella, while below there are the two bright Twin stars, Castor and Pollux just emerging from the ground But most interesting of all is the beautiful Orion, whose brightest star at H has now fairly entered our evening sky This wonderful

orange red sun is one of the most interesting variable stars of the heavens Seventy-six years ago Sir John Herschel discovered that its light was fluctuating, in the year 1849 another fluctuation began its light increasing until in 1852 it was actually the brightest star in the northern heavens A lesser brightening was witnessed in 1894 What is occurring in this great sun is wholly unknown to us nor can we tell when a variation in its light is to be looked for

The three nearly equidistant stars, D F and F which form the Belt of Orion and add so much to the beauty of this constellation are now just arising from the ground As might be expected, this striking line of bright stars has been noticed and named by people of all ages and in all countries The Chinese called them a Weighing Beam, the Hindus, an Arrow, the Scandinavians, a Distaff, and the Greenlanders, three Seal Hunters who were lost at sea To the native Australians they were young men dancing before a group of maidens who represented by the Pleiades were playing for them The careful observer will notice that the star F is decidedly more yellow than those at D or E The lower star is an interesting triple the upper is not only a double star but its brightness also varies irregularly

Suns Which Vary in Brightness

It happens that one of the most remarkable and interesting variable stars of the heavens is expected to reach its greatest brightness during this month while it is in excellent position for observation in the evening sky This star will be found at the point K in Figures 1 and 2, a very little to the left of the straight line passing through the stars L, N, P and S It can readily be identified by its position a little below and to the left of the star at N

This wonderful object is usually very much too faint to be seen with the naked eye but at a somewhat irregular interval it begins to pour out more and more light until its brightness has increased many thousand fold It usually remains thus bright for about two months and then it fades rapidly away

It is predicted that this star will be brightest on November 5 It should then be more than twice as bright as the nearby star at M, Figure 2, and will probably so remain throughout the month It will reach its greatest faintness next May, when it will shine as a star of the 13 2 magnitude only visible in the largest telescopes Thus the changes in this distant sun are even more remarkable than those of the celebrated Mira, at R, Figure 1 We know that its wonderful blazes of light are partly caused by outpourings of luminous hydrogen and its spectrum clearly indicates the agitation and violent motions of its heated materials at these times, but the real cause of the periodic disturbances we are still ignorant

Not only should the observer watch this star from time to time during the coming weeks, to observe its gradual fading away, but he may also be interested in examining the well-known Mira at R, Figure 1 and the eclipsing variable at T, The former of these, which last May was nearly as bright as the North Star, is now barely visible to the eye though it will not reach its great faintness of 9 6 magnitude until next December The later is the celebrated Demon Star Algol whose light is periodically cut off by the passage of its dimmer companion between itself and us This star will reach its greatest faintness on November 2 at seven hours twenty two minutes p m on November 20, at 0 hours sixteen minutes a m on November 22, at nine hours five minutes p m, and on November 25, at five hours fifty-four minutes p m The observer must not expect to see the light of the star suddenly cut off, the companion moves before the brighter star so gradually that four and one-half hours elapse between times of greatest faintness By looking at the star at intervals of perhaps an hour its light changes are, however, easily observed

Stars Less Dense than Air.

From a study of the stars of this kind we can not only ascertain the nature of these double sun systems but we can also find approximately how dense the two bodies are And it is found that many of them are remarkably rare and tenuous—merely neubulous masses which are still very far from having attained the compact condition of the sun Thus the average density of all of the Algol variables is probably not far from one-third of that of our sun, while recent computations show that one of the fainter stars of this kind in the Southern Cross is actually less than one hundredth part as dense as our air Yet this body appears to us as a bright and non-transparent star, when passing before its companion star it hides the light of this body from us exactly as if it were opaque, for the light of the hidden star is unable to penetrate the many millions of miles of tenuous matter of which its attendant star is composed Remarkable and surprising as such a result is, it is to be remembersd that the materal of our own sun formed an equally rare cloud when this had not yet contracted far within the present orbit of the planet Venus

The Planets.

Mercury reaches its greatest distance east of the sun on the morning of November 19 The planet is then far below the Celestial Equator, and so if seen at all can only be detected in the extreme southwest for a short while after sunset

Venus is rapidly moving from the sun's rays passing Jupiter in its eastward motion on the evening of November 7 By the end of the month it sets two and one-half hours after sunset and may readily be detected in the southwest, low in the twighlight glow

Mars enters the morning sky on November 4; Jupiter is drawing rapidly nearer the sun, though it does not pass to the east of this body and become a morning star until December 18 Both of these planets are in an unfavorable position for observation during this month

Saturn is high in the east, nearly midway between the Hyades and the Pleiades, and presents a beautiful object for study in a telescope of moderate power It is exactly opposite the sun, and so is due south at midnight, on November 23

The November shooting stars may best be seen after midnight from the 14th to the 16th of the month They dart outward in all directions across the sky from the constellation Leo, which is then well up from the ground in the east

A fainter shower of reddish, very slowly moving stars are to be looked for from November 17 to November 23 These are the Andromids, which move outward from near the star at V, Figure 1, usually leaving luminous trains behind them And toward the end of the month, the Taurids appear near the bright star Aldebaran at Z, Figure 1 These also move but slowly over the sky, and fire-balls are said to occasionally appear among them

AMOS HARDING DIES AT HOME IN CHICAGO

The Passing of a Gentleman Well Known Here.

Relatives here have received a message announcing the death of Amos Harding, aged about seventy-years, at his home in Chicago death being due to a brief illness of uraemic poisoning

Mr Harding was a cousin to Dr G T Harding and was quite well known in this city He was the general agent of the Springfield Fire Insurance company in the West and frequently visited Marion

The deceased leaves a widow and two grown children

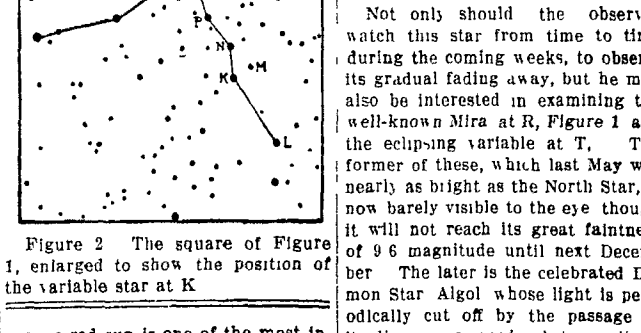

Figure 3 Appearance of Saturn and its rings At present we see the ring even more widened than here shown, but there is little trace of the shadow of the ball on the rings because Saturn's shadow now extends almost directly away from the earth
